UP FROM millions of throats all over the world arose the cry of people for whom the tomorrow would not bring with it more tragedy, more suffering, more uncertainty and more self-denial. To the Big Four, as to all the United Nations, peace would come.

Peace would come to China for the first time in at least eight years. The one nation which had known the full strength of the Japanese armed might would now be able to turn its back on Japan without fear. For the first time in at least eight years the Chinese would be able to think and to plan for a tomorrow in which the Japanese would not be a part of the picture. There would no longer be a powerful, vicious neighbor who—octopus-like—would wrap its tentacles around China under the pretense of establishing prosperity for Greater East Asia. Now, after eight of the saddest years in its history, peace—with victory—had come to China.

Peace would come to the Soviet Union, too. And it would come with victory. That victory would indeed be sweet revenge for a people who could change the very nature of their government but could not deaden the sting of a defeat at the hands of the Japanese. To be sure, Japan had defeated the Russia of the Czars; now the Russia of the Soviet Union would conquer the Japanese. But the Russian people had carried within their hearts at all time the unquenchable fire of hatred for the Japanese. Peace came to the Soviet Union, not only with victory, but with revenge!

And peace would come to Great Britain, too. To the Britain which had squandered the seed of its future generations in the fields of Flanders and had come home with but a handful of those seeds after Dunkerque. Peace—with victory—would come to Great Britain and to all its far flung empire. But peace did not come until after each and every part of the empire was well along on the path to defeat.

Peace would come to America. Peace would come to the one nation of the United Nations that had been attacked without even the benefit of a declaration of war. Peace would come to the nation hated most by the Japanese because it was everything Japan longed to be. Peace would come to the nation which the Nazis despised most because it believed in the freedom of the individual.

From the souls of these millions of people there rose the common prayer of thanksgiving:

We thank Thee, God, for Peace!

A VIEW OF ONE OF THE GIGANTIC PRODUCTION AREAS BUILT TO MANUFACTURE THE ATOMIC BOMB

THE United Association is proud that its members were able to contribute to the production of the world's most effective weapon—the atom bomb. We are proud that in the race for the weapon which—alone—would have turned the tide of victory into a crushing defeat for the United Nations, members of the United Association proved once again that free men can combine before a common danger and form an unbeatable team.

The story of the atom bomb is now common knowledge. Scientists of all kinds — mathematicians, physicists, chemists, and many others—realized for years that within the basic elements of matter there was locked up tremendous stores of energy. The general problem was to find a method of gaining access to this force. Guided always by the most abstract kind of reasoning and apparently far removed from the world of known facts, the scientists of many nations worked along in their laboratories. To them, the search for a method of opening the atom was a search for knowledge—without thought of the specific application of the results to the daily lives of men. But the laboratories were not to remain devoted to the acquisition of pure knowledge. The war against the Axis nations ended that.

During the war scientific progress toward the goal of splitting the atom became a deadly race between the two groups of warring nations. Hitler Germany drove its scientists with all the authority and force at the command of the Nazis. In a sense, their fingers touched—but could not hold—the secret of the atom. The Nazis drove out the one scientist whose knowledge broke down the final major barrier to unleashing the devastating power enclosed in an atom of uranium—an obscure Jewess!

Meanwhile, in England, Canada and the United States free men and women combined the skill of their minds and their hands in finding a method of harnessing atoms to defend themselves from the attacks of those who jeered at democracy. The War Department of the United States accepted the responsibility of organizing the greatest coordinated wartime research program any nation has ever known. In addition, facilities had to be constructed for mass production so that no time would be lost if the scientists were successful.

Just how the thousands of skilled workers were obtained; just how completely new cities were brought into being outside of Knoxville, Tenn., and Pasco, Wash.; and just how these free workers kept the world's most important secret is now all a matter of history. But in the making of that history the International Unions affiliated with the Building and Construction Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor played an important part. Among those Unions, the United Association of Journeymen Plumbers and Steam Fitters is proud to be included. Thousands of our members joined in this gigantic enterprise to defeat the enemies of democracy. We are proud of them. We boast of their achievements.

Yet, it is not actually necessary to rely upon our own measurement of their contribution to the war effort. Shortly after the story of the atom bomb was released on the Japs, Under Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson made the following statement to the workers on this project:

"Today the whole world knows the secret which you have helped us to keep for many months. I am pleased to be able to add that the war lords of Japan now know its effects better even than we do ourselves. The atomic bomb—which you have helped to develop with high devotion to patriotic duty—is the most devastating military weapon that any country has ever been able to turn against its enemy. No one of you has worked on the entire project or known the whole story. Each of you has done his own job and kept his own secret, and so today I speak for a grateful nation when I say congratulations and thank you all. I hope you will continue to keep the secrets you have kept so well. The need for security and for continued effort is fully as great now as it ever was. We are proud of every one of you."

This commendation is indeed most satisfying to the members of organized labor in America. Not too long ago we were defending with all the power we could muster the belief that American workers could be relied upon to do everything within their power to win the war. We fought against legislation which would have reduced us to the position of the Nazi workers and robbed us of our freedom. We objected to being robbed of the privilege of voluntarily producing the instruments of war.

Today the organized workers of America stand vindicated. Into areas far removed from civilized comforts and cut off from friends and associates while on the job, our men have worked with the zest and skill of men who recognized their responsibilities. We have measured up to every requirement. We have won the race between free men and slave labor.

Because we have had a part in this discovery we recognize the heavy obligation which has been placed upon the world. There now exists knowledge which can guarantee everlasting peace on earth in the sense that men will no longer turn to war as a means of settling their differences. But there also exists the possibility that men can literally and actually exterminate themselves. Two nations at war and using atom bombs could wipe each other from the face of the globe. In other words, there would be no winner and no loser. If there were a World War III then anything could happen. To be exact, not only would the number of people left upon this globe be drastically reduced but it is conceivable that all forms of civilized living would also disappear. No one can say what might happen if a large supply of such bombs were to be set off simultaneously. The result might be equivalent to an earthquake which would shatter a major part of the earth. There are other possible uses of this knowledge in warfare, no doubt, but they all lead conclusively to the fact that mankind is at last in the position to demonstrate that it is so selfish, so basically stupid that it will not use knowledge to improve life; rather, mankind can now show that it prefers misery to happiness, and death to life.

At this moment little is apparently known about the constructive use of this new source of energy. The world has progressed from the energy obtained by harnessing waterfalls, through steam power, electric power to the age of atom power. Just as no one could predict the commercial uses of electricity, so no one can forecast the meaning of this new source of power.

So little is known about the principles which have led to the splitting of the atom that it is impossible to describe the peacetime uses of this knowledge. Boiled down to its essence, the development of the atom bomb means the discovery of a new prime mover—a new source of power. Hence we are passing into another stage of man's conquest of nature. Power has been obtained from waterfalls, steam, electricity; now it will be procured from splitting atoms of matter. How long it may take to harness this development for commercial uses is unknown, but if it lives up to what appears to be its potential uses there will be enormous changes in the way men earn their living as well as in the way they live. This process may supplant coal as a commercial source of heat and energy. Hydro-electric power may be outmoded if the atomic method of power generation is less costly. Gasoline as we know it may disappear because energy for moving automobiles may be obtained from other elements. In the same manner, oil may be displaced as the source of power and heat. Each of these possible substitutions means some change in the way some people earn their living. The America of the future will be altered as the world was when commercial uses for electricity brought lighting, communication, power to a world accustomed to oil and gas lamps for lighting; the pony express and the railroad for communication; and steam engines for power.

There is already a body of opinion in this country—and probably in other countries—that the entire discovery should be buried and forgotten. There is the belief that man has brought into existence a power so evil and so great that only misery and unhappiness will result.

There can be no question that the knowledge of how atoms could be split is an awesome discovery. The fact to be noted is that the scientists who witnessed the first test of this knowledge in the form of a bomb were profoundly disturbed and prayed to their Creator. Indeed, no one who comprehended just exactly what was occurring when the first atom bomb was exploded could fail to acknowledge that God placed in the hands of man one more agency of happiness or unhappiness.

But it does not follow logically that man will, of necessity, use his recently acquired knowledge to promote misery and want. Nor does it follow that man will use his knowledge to wage a war which can lead only to extermination. The problem before mankind today is to determine what uses of atom-splitting can be found which will promote the well-being of the world. There is no retreat from this discovery. To shut our minds to this discovery would be equivalent to making the snap judgment that we know now that no good results will be obtained from our added knowledge. No person alive can make that statement. No one is in a position to assert factually just what future uses of this new technique may mean. Actually the demand that this knowledge be suppressed arises from a fear of the unknown. Just as savages fear thunder because they do not comprehend its causes, so some people today are urging that civilization turn its back upon this area of the unknown.

The primary basis of the atom bomb's power to horrify civilization is the speed with which it operates. One bomb does in minutes what would take 20,000 bombing planes several days to accomplish. BUT THE RESULTS WOULD BE THE SAME. Yet there appears to be no extraordinary consternation about the fact that several thousands of bombers can reduce a city to rubble and kill all of its inhabitants. Actually the discovery of the atom bomb simply emphasizes the fact that war is horrible, inhuman and wasteful. Sensibly, therefore, the people of the world can urge that ways and means be found to abolish war as the method of settling differences between nations. If the horror which has been ascribed to the atom bomb should channel our thinking in this direction then the discovery of the atom bomb will have earned the reputation of being man's greatest blessing.

AN AIR VIEW OF AN EXPERIMENTAL UNIT FOR ONE PROCESS IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF THE ATOMIC BOMB

THE GOVERNMENT EMPLOYEES COUNCIL OF THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR

FOR many years International Unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor have been actively organizing workers employed by the Federal Government. To be exact, there are some nineteen such International Unions who include in their membership government employees. The Bookbinders, Ironworkers, Electrical Workers, Operating Engineers, the Office Employees, the Photo-Engravers and the United Association of Journeymen Plumbers and Steam Fitters are some of these organizations. Recently, however, these labor organizations decided that for the best interests of all the workers some form of joint action should be possible without sacrificing the autonomy of any one International. The result was the Government Employees Council of the American Federation of Labor.

The primary objective of the Council is to obtain better government through better employee morale. The employees of the Federal Government are in no wise different from workers anywhere in the world. They want—and deserve—higher wages, shorter hours, and better working conditions. Only when Federal employees are treated as well as their fellow workers will their morale and their efficiency be of a calibre that will yield better government.

The unvarnished truth is that the employees of the Federal Government are treated about as well as they are organized. Whenever craftsmen are organized and have sufficient economic and political strength to make themselves heard, wages, hours and working conditions approach those of employees working for private concerns. When the workers are not organized, they are subject to the whims and wishes of "personnel officers." At best the personnel officers of the Government are paternalistic; at worst, they are people who are not equipped to do any other kind of work and are placed in "personnel" just to put them on the pay roll.

Since most government workers are not organized, they are given all the "benefits" of the open shop, anti-union employer. For example, craftsmen who have historically been paid on the basis of a single rate for all qualified mechanics find their jobs being paid for on the basis of a "rate range" which substitutes as many as eight or ten rates for the single hourly rate. The rate range racket is the standby of most non-union employers.

Grievances are considered about as well as any company-union set-up would. There is all the outward signs of joint participation of "management"—that is, the personnel officers—and employees. Joint boards are set up, to consider primarily complaints raised over ratings, but there are all the usual characteristics of such boards in company unions. Docility, gentleness, subservience prevail because there is no real mechanism of adjustment. The final decision rests essentially with the personnel officers.

Another characteristic of Federal employment so often found among anti-union employers is the "job description". Since the rate of pay depends largely upon the job description, the road to high wages in the employ of the Government is a well-drawn description. The best job descriptions are found, of course, for the employees in the personnel offices. In turn, the personnel officers are in a position to up-grade or down-grade employees in an agency by altering the descriptions.

At the present time the Council has set up a program to obtain a thirty-hour work-week, a genuine system of seniority, application of labor laws which are in force for employees of private concerns, improved retirement provisions, severance pay and genuine participation in the labor relations activities of the Federal Government.

There are over 300,000 Government employees who are now members of the nineteen affiliated International Unions which make up the Council. This number can be maintained and increased only by progressive action and the support of the International Unions themselves. If the quality of Government is to be improved, the first step can be taken by effective organization of its employees.

Red Cross Prepares For Peace Problems On Labor Day 1945

LABOR DAY 1945 finds the American Red Cross making plans for readjusted services to aid in the national and international problems of civilian life. Blood donations for civilians will take the place of the Blood Donor Service for the wounded overseas. Industrial first aid will be emphasized and disaster relief will continue to be given when catastrophes occur periodically throughout the country.

In a statement sent to the labor press for release in Labor Day editions, Chairman Basil O'Connor pledged the increased efforts of this humanitarian organization in the years of reconstruction ahead.

"Conscious of our responsibility to help solve the problems of occupation, demobilization and readjustment," he said, "we are determined that insofar as Red Cross service will permit, there shall be no forgotten man.

"Never before have reconstruction and rehabilitation offered such a challenge or such a complex problem. As we enter our peacetime program it is in no sense with a sigh of relief that means a return to the familiar. The old shoe won't fit.

"The enlarged program of the future will include the manifold problems that will arise in connection with servicemen and their families in regard to the interpretation of Government regulations and legislation affecting them. Questions about family allowances, claims for pensions and assistance of various kinds are bound to need clarifying, and every chapter of the Red Cross is preparing to do its utmost to help.

"In the days of war, at last ended, all branches of labor have supported the American Red Cross. Blood, money, time, energy and skill have been forthcoming in response to repeated appeals. Today, on labor's national holiday, so well earned, we look forward to an era of continued cooperation."

Report of GENERAL

In closing my last report I just arrived in Windsor to confer with the Local Union regarding a serious situation that had been created by the unfair action of some of our employers. Through their association they had agreed with our Conference Board, and also with myself, to our making application for an increase in wages of 4 cents per hour to straighten out an irritating margin in the wages.

Applications had been made to the Regional War Labour Board for permission for the increase, which was granted, and then the employers brutally ignored their promises and appealed the decision to the National War Labour Board, I having previously reported on this case, and the National Board reversed the decision of the Regional Board.

The Local Union had called a special meeting for the afternoon of my arrival, taking time off to do so, and we had a very full and frank discussion of the situation with the result that the men refused to work under existing conditions and decided that they would not return to their employment until such time as a new agreement was written with the employers and governing the wage rates we had been awarded by the Regional Board.

With the conference board of the Local Union, we met some of the fair employers who were opposed to the attitude of those who had appealed the decision, and the Conciliation Officer of the Department of Labour. But there was nothing we could do to overcome the situation that had been created. Hence the men decided to remain away from their employment.

Having received a call from Montreal I visited the United Shipyards with Business Agent Gauld, and met the management respecting the work that was being undertaken and the desire to secure our men, and we also took the question up of our agreement, and we are making satisfactory progress. I had a meeting with Organizer Murphy of the Machinists respecting the situation at Liverpool and Halifax, and decided to make further representations to the Department of Labour at Ottawa.

I also had a meeting with the International Officers of the Pulp and Sulphite workers and the other mechanical trades employed in the mills at Dalhousie, N. B., respecting our desires for a more satisfactory type of agreement which had been agreed to at the annual meeting in April. We then had a conference with the officers of the company and arrived at a satisfactory draft that would be submitted to a later meeting along with the company's representatives.

Proceeding to Ottawa, I called on Mr. MacLean of the Department of Labour respecting the situation at Liverpool and Halifax and regret to state that we are not receiving the conditions that we were assured would come to us, and so this matter will be one of further negotiations.

I was in attendance at a meeting of the Labour Reconstruction Committee with the Honorable Mr. Howe, dealing with some of the problems and the planning that are in anticipation for the immediate future and these will be matters of future study and report.

Returning to Windsor I again met with the officers and members of the Local Union who were loyally standing by their previous decisions and I conferred with some of the employers and other persons interested in the situation, but there was no apparent desire to adjust the situation.

I then visited Toronto and was in attendance at their annual picnic that was a gigantic success and it is pleasing to report of the splendid work of the picnic committee and the complete harmony existing that made for such a successful venture.

I then left for Montreal and was in attendance at a meeting of the Division Executive No. 4, R.E.D., who were dealing with the important situation that had been created by the refusal of the Company to make any amendments to our existing agreements, and the matter will now have to be submitted to our general membership.

I attended a conference with the International Paper Company and the general officers of the various organizations, and after the serious study of the whole of the problem, we arrived at a very advanced type of agreement, respecting the men employed in the mechanical departments of the company, and a tremendous step forward in industrial relations, and I would be remiss in my duty if I did not express my appreciation of the splendid manner in which the company's officials met our labour group to deal with this problem.

Receiving advice from Windsor, I immediately returned there and upon arrival along with the conference board of Local Union No. 552, and a group of employers, we held a meeting with Mr. Perkins, Industrial Relations Officer, and after a very full review of the situation we agreed to his proposals that he re-submit the matter himself to the Regional Board, but in the meantime we would continue as we had started.

With Business Agent MacMillan, we visited the Heintz job at Leamington and conferred with our members on the job, and I also met several of our Sprinkler Fitters who are working on the project, but no immediate action was taken in connection with our situation.

Returning to Toronto I conferred with the officers of the Building Trades and the officers of our Local Union respecting the decisions that have been made by the Regional War Labour Board, granting them 4 cents an hour increase. And the matter is now before the various local unions and the Building Trades, and it is anticipated that an appeal will be made against this decision and seeking the establishment of the 10 cents an hour requested.

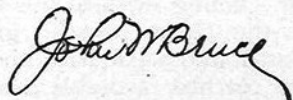

Returning to Windsor, I was again in attendance at the meetings of our Local Union and in consultation with our Conference Board, with Business Agent MacMillan. We had a conference with Mr. Reaume, Mayor, who is vitally interested in the situation and desirous of trying to be of assistance. We also had further conferences with the employers because of the apparent opposition that is being received from the National War Labour Board, it now being evident that we are leading a fight in which the Government is showing its determination to prevent any wage increases, even though the Regional Board made us a favorable award.

The executive council of the building trades called a special meeting at which I was present, and outlined what had been done to seek an adjustment of our problem, and they approved of all our actions, and they have now informed the Government that it is their intention, if the matter is not settled satisfactorily, to take sympathetic action in support of our Local Union.

I am still in consultation with the employers and the Department of Labour in our efforts to secure an early settlement, but at this date the dispute is still in existence, and my next report will date from here, as I am lending all the assistance I possibly can to our Local Union in this struggle as it is vital to our future welfare.

This report begins with my visit to Colorado Springs as I received a call from Business Representative John Welton, of Local Union No. 58. The purpose of this visit was to Camp Carson where we met Brother Howard J. Milton, the Sprinkler Fitter foreman for Crowder Bros., of St. Louis, Mo., as the Sprinkler Fitters were guilty of violating the 669 agreement. After calling these violations to his attention, I insisted that he religiously respect the terms of the 669 agreement. I have also called this matter to the attention of General President Durkin, asking him to call this matter to the attention of Crowder Bros., of St. Louis, and request their cooperation.

While at Camp Carson we also visited jobs of the Automatic Sprinkler Company as well as the Grinnell Company, who had several jobs installing automatic sprinklers in the older buildings at Camp Carson.

I next went to Cheyenne, Wyo., where I got in touch with Business Representative Reynolds, of Local Union 192, as a condition existed at the Frontier Refining Company where new work was under construction and in accordance with the contract that we negotiated with this company, it provided that all new work was to be installed by a contractor and paid for at the Building Trades scale of wage recognized by the Cheyenne Building and Construction Trades Council. However, in the opinion of the officials of the Frontier Refining Company, even though the agreement that had been negotiated had been submitted to the War Labor Board for their approval, the company felt that they would have to have the permission of the War Labor Board at Denver in order to pay the Building Trade scale of wages on the new work and an application was made to the W.L.B. in Denver to permit the payment of these wage scales in May, 1945. Not hearing from the War Labor Board, this work started in the latter part of June and the company paid the maintenance scale of wage, which to me was a violation of the contract that we had mutually entered into. However, the attorney for the Frontier Refining Company, Mr. Eaton, and the writer called upon the W.L.B. at Denver to secure their approval for these rates obtained.

However, the Building Trades scale of wages in Cheyenne had previously been approved by the Bacon Davis Act, the United States Labor Department and the Wage Adjustment Board. Further than this, the agreement that had been negotiated with the Frontier Refining Company had previously met with the approval of the War Labor Board, but it was the decision of the W.L.B. that we file an application with the Wage Adjustment Board asking them that they grant the privilege to the Frontier Refining Company to pay the already established and recognized scale of wages. This I refused to do for I felt that at the time of the approval of the agreement when it was sent to the N.L.R.B. that they granted this permission to pay the Building Trades scales of wages on all new work. We later called upon an attorney representing the W.L.B. in Denver and he advised us to take the situation up with the Wage and Hour Division at Denver. We called upon the Wage and Hour Division but the gentleman we desired to see was out of the city. To make a long story short, after all of this red tape the Building Trades wage scale has been approved, not only for the members of the United Association, but for all other trades that are a part of this agreement.

I next returned to Colorado Springs in reference to a misunderstanding over an installation of Rickwill Pipe Covering on the complaint of the Asbestos Workers as it seems as though there was a misunderstanding between the membership of Local Union No. 58 and the Pipe Coverers. After making a survey of the job in question, I requested our people to turn this work over to the Insulators. However, the work in question is buried in a trench approximately six feet deep and due to the fact that the Asbestos Workers are having some difficulty in placing their members on the job, and after informing Business Representative Bear that the work in question was turned over to their members, but if in the event they failed to furnish the necessary covers, that in order to eliminate this hazardous condition on the part of our employer, as there are many psychoneurotic patients roaming Camp Carson, and due to the fact that the work in question is of such a small nature, something should be done in order to eliminate this hazardous condition.

Returning to Denver, I attended a special meeting of the employees of the Kaiser Industries to discuss with them the proposed agreement we are submitting to the company in their behalf and after reading the proposed agreement and discussing it at great length, at which time several amendments were made to fit the situation, and having the agreement rewritten, we have submitted it to Mr. Mailand, the personnel director, and he in turn informed Business Representative Donner of the Pipe Fitters Local Union No. 208, and the writer that he expected Mr. Inch to arrive in Denver within the next few days, at which time they would be glad to discuss the contents of the agreement with us.

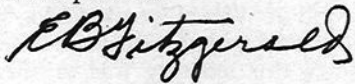

I later attended a meeting of the organizing committee of the Denver Metal Trades Council, at which time several matters of importance to the several metal trades came up for discussion and arrangements were made to properly take care of those situations.

A meeting was held with the several Business Agents of the Denver Building Trades Council with Messrs. Becker, Jones and Parkinson of the Stearns-Rogers Company, in reference to a job at Wilson Creek, Colo., which is located in Moffat county. The purpose of this meeting was to offer our cooperation in attempting to have the proper wage scale recognized on this job. Insofar as the United Association is concerned jurisdiction has been awarded to our two local unions at Denver, that is Plumbers Local Union No. 3 and Pipe Fitters Local Union No. 208, and the wage scale predetermined at $1.65 per hour. Business Representative Donner and the writer later met with Mr. Weiss and Mr. Becker at Stearns-Rogers in order to discuss several jobs that they have in many of the states and we were informed by these gentlemen that their jobs at Greenville, Miss., Middleton, Tenn., Springfield, Tenn., and Winchester, Ky., as well as a job at Yakima, Wash., would employ members of the United Association. We also discussed with these gentlemen the signing of the national agreement with the United Association, and while much progress has been made, we are of the opinion that this will soon be accomplished, as we were given the assurances that all of their work, regardless of where located, that they would first try to secure members from the United Association; knowing that if this is done we will have no difficulty in supplying the necessary qualified mechanics.

A meeting was also attended of the Metal Trades Department who have people engaged in their jurisdictional work employed by the Denver Public Service Company. Several of its members showed up and some progress has been made in trying to properly organize those men and place them in their proper international unions, as provided for in the American Federation of Labor. While some progress has been made the Metal Trades Department of Denver is continuing to circularize the membership employed, hoping that eventually we will succeed in organizing this institution.

A meeting was also held with the representatives of the Federal Apprenticeship Training Committee in reference to setting up a program for apprenticeship training in the refrigeration industry. I discussed this situation at some length with Messrs. Knoxon and Frodine, both of whom are connected with the Federal Bureau. It is our desire to work out a situation whereby the apprentice will be properly trained so that after he has served his apprenticeship he will be a qualified mechanic. There are other meetings to be held at which time I hope that we can eventually report that the desired situation has been accomplished.

During my visits to Waterbury, Conn., a meeting was held with the Conference Board of Local Union No. 22, later in the company of the Board and Business Agent Brother Jim Donahue of this local meeting of the officers of the Master Plumbers was attended and the matter of the new agreement that is being negotiated was gone into in detail. The matter of reaching a final understanding was held in abeyance until such time as definite information is obtained from the Wage Adjustment Board determining the line of demarcation between strictly private work and work vital to the war effort. Data on the determinative factors is to be procured at an early date.

In New Haven, Conn., a meeting of the Executive Board of Local Union No. 349, was attended and a request was made that the writer visit a job within the jurisdiction of this local in the company of Business Agent Brother Ed Meaney for the purpose of investigating and adjusting an alleged disregard of the local's by-laws on the part of a Brother from another local. The result of our visit has been reported to this local.

At the request of Danbury, Conn., Local Union No. 303, a meeting of the officers was attended and information that they were seeking concerning the matter of incorporating into their new agreement a clause providing for annual vacations for the members was discussed from the standpoint of Governmental regulations under the General Orders and Interpretations of the National War Labor Board and the Wage Adjustment Board of the United States Department of Labor.

At Norwalk, Conn., a meeting of the Executive Board of Local Union No. 222, was attended and later the regular meeting of this local was attended, when we discussed several matters in the interest of the members, including the advisability of permitting the members to accept employment on maintenance work in hospitals, manufacturing plants, etc., through the local after investigation and sanction being granted by action of local.

During my visit to Bridgeport, Conn., an opportunity was afforded to meet with Business Agent Brother John Bike of Local Union No. 173, with whom was discussed matters concerning the interest and welfare of the members of this local.

By instructions from the General Office the funeral of our late Brother John J. McCurry, assistant to General President Brother Edward J. Brown of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, was attended in New Haven, Conn., where he had formerly been very active in the local labor movement prior to taking up his duties in Washington, D. C., where his intelligent handling of matters concerning the interests of the building trades industry had endeared him to the hosts of friends he had made over the years. A large delegation representing labor, business, State and City officials, including Mayor John W. Murphy, was present at the Solemn Requiem High Mass held at St. Peter's Church, and the burial at St. Lawrence Cemetery.

At Providence, R. I., in the company of Business Agent Brother Billy O'Brien of Steam Fitters' Local Union No. 476, a conference was attended with the representatives of the American Moistening Company, when the matter of entering into an agreement for the employment of members of the United Association on such of the work that this company contracts for coming within the jurisdiction of the United Association was discussed, and a tentative understanding was reached favorable to reaching an understanding when the present employees have been given an opportunity to qualify for membership within this local. This matter has been taken care of and arrangements will be made to consummate an agreement.

During my visit to Springfield, Mass., a meeting was held with Business Agents Brothers Tom Egan of Plumbers Local Union No. 89, and Bill Morris of Steam Fitters Local Union No. 603, when matters pertaining to the welfare of the members of these locals were discussed and advice given, including the matter of entering into an agreement with the Anchorage Homes, Inc., a corporation formed for the purpose of building prefabricated cottages, and is desirous of doing business under union conditions and with agreements either local or national in scope, whichever will best serve the interests of all involved from the standpoint of construction. This matter had been referred to General President Durkin, who in turn referred the matter to the writer for investigation and report. The company in question is to have its plant in Westfield, Mass., within the jurisdiction of our Springfield locals.

At a later date two meetings were held with Mr. W. W. Rausch, President of Anchorage Homes, Inc., when he went into the details of the plans and policy which this company hopes to pursue in marketing its product, and I have sent to General President Brother Martin P. Durkin a report on my visit to Springfield, and later meetings with Mr. W. W. Rausch.

With the representatives of several international unions and officers of the shipyard locals, including United Association Local Union No. 794, an open meeting of the men employed at the Portsmouth, N. H. United States Navy Yard was attended when the non-members were informed as to what the American Federation of Labor and its affiliated trades have done to advance their interests and it was pointed out to them that their non-membership could retard any progressively designed methods that might be attempted to help the trades as a whole owing to the fact that they had no complete organization established. Other meetings are to be held with the hope that those not yet members will see the advantage of joining with their fellow employees to better their conditions.

A visit was made to Portland, Maine, for the purpose of meeting with Business Agent Brother Walter Horn of Local Union No. 217, and a contractor concerning a complaint the employer had made that this local would not furnish him with its members although he had no agreement with the local. The employer being out of town, it will be necessary to visit Portland again, when this contractor will have an opportunity to meet with the Executive Board of Local Union No. 217, Business Agent Walter Horn and the writer, when the matter of his alleged complaint will be gone into. While in Portland I had an opportunity to discuss with Brother Horn, and the officers of the Portland Building and Construction Trades Council matters of importance to the building trades of this city.

In Lynn, Mass., at the request of our locals of this city a meeting was attended with Business Agent Brother Andy Cheever of Local Union No. 277, and the joint Conference Board of Plumbers Local Union No. 77, and Steam Fitters' Local Union No. 277, when the matter of the agreement that these officers are negotiating with the Lynn Master Plumbers Association was discussed and requested advice was given on the matter of vacation with pay and the differential in wages that the members should be entitled to under the provisions of the Wage Adjustment Board's adjusted wage scales to the formalities of the "Little Steel" set-up.

In the company of Business Agent Brother Tim Callahan of Boston, Mass., Plumbers Local Union No. 12, a meeting of the Board of Business Agents of the Boston Building and Construction Trades Council was attended, when an opportunity was afforded to speak to the officers and listen to the discussions on matters concerning the interests and welfare of the several trades.

Brother Ray Barres, Secretary of Local Union No. 423, Elyria, Ohio, submitted an application to the General Office for wage increase approval by the Wage Adjustment Board. The matter was referred to the writer for filing with the Board but in examining the case submitted by Brother Barres we find that he failed to submit a negotiated collective bargaining agreement with their employers and the application was delayed until such time as the local union would comply with the necessary evidence that they were in agreement with their employers for the increase in wage stated in their application.

Brother James A. Reardon, Business Agent of Local Union No. 646, Journeymen Steam Fitters, and Local Union No. 135, Journeymen Plumbers, Fall River, Mass., filed an application with the Regional Director of Wage and Hour Division for their approval of an increase in wage rates for the membership of both local unions. The applications were returned, being advised by the Regional Director, Mr. Leo Gleason, that the subject matter should be sent to the Wage Adjustment Board through their International Office and when received by this office the case was incomplete because of not having the evidence required by the Wage Adjustment Board, that is, that they failed to submit a statement from their contractors on their stationery of the wage rates paid to Journeymen Plumbers and Steam Fitters as of January 1, 1941. We advised that they get this information and forward it in duplicate to the General Office so that the case can receive the usual prompt attention.

Brother Charles D. Wilson, Business Manager of Local Union No. 44, Spokane, Wash., forwarded applications as a joint request between Plumbers and Steam Fitters Local Union No. 44 and the Master Plumbers Association of Spokane, Wash., to be presented to the Wage Adjustment Board for their decision. We notified Business Manager Wilson that the application submitted was not filed with the Wage Adjustment Board because the members of the local union were at present receiving wage rates in excess of the 15 per cent allowable under the Little Steel Formula.

Brother Fred G. Whitmore, Business Manager of Local Union No. 7, Albany, N. Y., filed applications to be presented to the Wage Adjustment Board for their approval of the wage increase as presented and the writer was informed by the Secretary, Robert C. Moore, that the Board refused to pass upon their case until further evidence was submitted. Business Manager Whitmore was informed by the writer that unless the request by the Wage Adjustment Board was complied with that they would not take any action on their application. I might add a word or two in such cases as we are discussing that it would be very helpful if the officers of the local unions would take time out when presenting applications to secure and submit with the application the required evidence, which would be the rates of wages paid to Journeymen members of the United Association on January 1, 1941, by a statement on the stationery of three or four contractors who employ their members, that they were paying such a rate to Journeymen as of January 1, 1941. When a local union is requesting the Board to approve a wage increase, they must submit a collective bargaining negotiated agreement that such wage rates as requested were agreed to by the representatives of both groups, employer and local unions. If they did not have any agreement they should have the several contractors who had agreed to wage increase, make a statement on their own stationery that on this date they had agreed to pay the increase as presented, giving the amount, and sign same with the understanding that if and when approved by the Wage Adjustment Board it will become the established rate.

The writer was in attendance at meetings of the Wage Adjustment Board and in this instance it was a public hearing on a disputes case filed by this office in behalf of our Pipe Fitters Local Union No. 392 of Cincinnati, Ohio. The case was a long drawn out affair in which the Labor Relations Representative of the Defense Plant Corporation protested the retroactive clause in wage increases contract between the Pipe Fitters and their employers. The results were that these hearings were ordered and our Business Manager, B. H. Blom of Local Union No. 392, had prepared a brief which was presented to the Board, as well as several questions that were put to the representatives of the United Association for answer, and we received a decision favorable to our Local Union No. 392.

Steam Fitters, Pipe Fitters and Helpers Local Union No. 807 of Baton Rouge, La., filed a complaint with the General Office that the M. W. Kellogg Company refused to comply with the wage rate specified by the Department of Labor on a project which was being constructed for the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, and it was necessary for this office to file a complaint with the Conciliation Division of the Department of Labor in the form of a disputes case. A public hearing was held and Business Manager R. O. Middleton was present to discuss this case and also the writer and we are awaiting a report of the Panel to the full Board who will then render a decision.

A great number of cases, too numerous to mention in this report, were taken up by the writer with the Executive Secretary of the Wage Adjustment Board, and also the Co-Chairman, Arthur D. Hill, and in each case the local unions were notified of the action taken in the cases they presented.

In the August report reference was made that a committee headed by President Green called at the Navy Department and held a meeting with Secretary of the Navy Forrestal regarding supervisors and on that occasion Secretary Forrestal promised that he would inform President Green as to his findings regarding supervisors holding office in labor unions. Whatever the outcome of the promise of Secretary of the Navy Forrestal to investigate the anti-labor policies of Admiral Crisp regarding Naval Shore supervisors sharing in their unions' deliberations, the problem seems to lend itself well to further approach, which may necessitate a visit by appointment to the White House to meet with President Truman, and present to him the reason for the protesting of Admiral Crisp's Directive.

In Milwaukee I attended the regular meeting of the Milwaukee Pipe Trades Council. This meeting was well attended as their meetings always are. The question of greatest interest was the attempt by the C. I. O. to raid the Building Trades. Delegate Moorbeck of Local Union No. 183 reported a case on one of the large industrial plants where the company tried to do construction work with maintenance men. He stated he had reported the case to General Vice President Pete Schoemann, who is President of the Milwaukee Building Trades Council, and the case was adjusted by the company. It was the action of the Council that every attempt of that kind be opposed.

I then left for St. Paul on instructions from the General Office to attend a meeting of the Building Trades of the State of Minnesota called by the State Federation of Labor. President Olson and Secretary Lawson handled the meeting setting forth the danger we were facing in the C. I. O. raiding our organization. The meeting was well attended by Building Trades men from throughout the state along with many International Representatives. Brother Art Olsen, who represents the Building Trades in the Wisconsin State Federation of Labor, spoke on the action taken by the Wisconsin Building Trades a few weeks before. The meeting resulted in some constructive plans to take care of the threat of the C. I. O.

In Chicago with a number of other International Representatives I was a guest of the United States Navy aboard the plane carrier S. S. Sable anchored off Chicago. This trip was very instructive and we learned from men just returned from the Pacific that there can be no let-up in our war efforts as there is a long war ahead in the Pacific as it appears at this time.

Next to Peoria where I met Business Representative William Galvin of Local Union No. 353 and we called on Mr. Guenther of the Hiram Walker Distilleries regarding a dispute between our members and two other crafts. One dispute involved the Boilermakers on the handling of material and one with the engineers on maintenance work. Both disputes were settled satisfactorily.

Returning to Chicago I stopped at Streator and Ottawa and met Secretary Art Gottselig and Business Representative Jack Dougherty of Local 466 and we left for La Salle where we contacted Secretary Eugene Dooley of Local Union No. 282 regarding the case of a former Business Representative of the La Salle County Association who is indebted to the county organization and we were trying to reach a settlement between the locals.

I then left for Milwaukee and conferred with Business Representatives Guy Dodge and A. M. Moen of Local Union No. 394 and Business Representative Jerry Enright of Local Union No. 601 regarding a demand by Local Union No. 597 for the return of assessment money paid by members of Local Union No. 597 who worked on the Badger Ordnance Plant. It was agreed that a check would be sent to Local Union No. 597 and all men still on the job would be required to clear into Local Union No. 394 in order to pay their share of policing the job.

In Chicago I called at the office of the Chicago Pipe Trades Council and was assured of the support of the Council in a controversy we were having with the Fairbanks Morse Co. of Beloit, who refuse to do the work coming under our jurisdiction on new construction with members of the United Association.

On account of a dispute over some work on the Midwest Rubber plant at East St. Louis, I met Business Representatives Frank Grabowski of Local Union No. 268 and Art Fischer of Local Union No. 360. We visited the job and all agreed the work belonged to Local Union No. 268. While in East St. Louis I met Business Representative Jim Shawen of Local No. 439.

In Springfield I met Business Representative Charles Carey of Local Union No. 137 in regard to some work in that territory, some of its pipe line work that Brother Carey was supplying men for.

Next to Hammond where a dispute arose over some work on a laundry. I visited the job with the Business Representatives of Local Unions No. 307 and 597 and an interpretation of their trade line agreement was made and accepted.

Receiving notice from the General Office that Local Union No. 605 had called an unwarranted strike on a Federal job at Charleston, I left for that place, stopping at Indianapolis for Business Representative Lee Poe of Local Union No. 440 and in Charleston we met Business Representative C. E. Bush of Local Union No. 605 and Mr. Duckworth, superintendent for the B. F. Shaw Co. After discussing the situation I agreed to go to New Albany and meet the executive board of Local Union No. 605. Later I met the men who were out on strike and pointed out to them that no matter what the grievance was no branch of our industry could strike against another branch in a jurisdictional controversy as was done in this case. After pointing out to them that our International was a party to the No Strike Agreement and it was the duty of Local Union No. 605 to return the plumbers to work and draw a trade line agreement with Local Union No. 440 so as to avoid a repetition of a thing of this kind, the men voted to return to work.

Stopping in Indianapolis I met Business Representative Bob Fox of Local Union No. 73 and got some information regarding a job at Madison, Ind. I also met Commissioner of Labor Charles Kern and discussed several matters pertaining to our industry throughout the state.

I then left for Janesville and met Secretary Louis Graesslin of Local Union No. 285 and agreed with him on a plan to request an adjustment in wages for Local Union No. 285 equal to that prevailing in the surrounding locals.

On instructions from the General Office I went to Mankato and attended a meeting of Local Union No. 561 and offered advice on the matter of a wage adjustment for the members of Local Union No. 561. The wages in Mankato are below our wage scale in that state and they are going to try to correct that condition. I agreed I would keep in touch with Secretary R. J. Prybylla as to the progress they were making.

I stopped at Madison and again contacted Secretary A. M. Moen in regard to the assessment charged the members of Local Union No. 597 who were demanding a refund and he agreed to contact Secretary McKinley of Local Union No. 597.

In La Crosse I found Business Representative Alex Nicholson about to write the General Office for the assistance of the Organizer in some trouble he was having with the Representative of the United States Employment Service. I agree to take up the case with one of the officials in the Twin Cities. I was unable to contact this party and wired Brother Nicholson I would take care of the case in Chicago.

I called at Winona and met Business Representative Henry Krier who is the City Plumbing Inspector and we talked over several matters including the organization of a Pipe Trades Council in Southern Minnesota.

I also called at Rochester and met Business Representative Ed Dooley of Local Union No. 556, who is organizing the Southern Minnesota Council, and Ed who is always looking after the jurisdiction of the United Association explained the benefits that we would derive from such an organization and I agreed to lend what assistance I could.

Next to Faribault on instructions from the General Office where I met Secretary Carl Wilkening of Local Union No. 164 in regard to certain departments of the state doing construction work with their maintenance men. I intend to call on the officials of these departments and see what can be done to stop this practice. I also called at the office of the Gallagher Plumbing and Heating Company and met Leo and Bob Gallagher and discussed several things regarding our work in which they were interested.

Arriving in the Twin Cities I received a wire to proceed to St. Louis to sign the Agreement consummated with the Shell Oil Company.

This report closes in St. Louis.

Thos. E. Cunningham

While in Chicago I handled necessary correspondence and complaints between some of our Local Unions and the Boilermakers.

REPORT OF
J. J. MCCARTIN

Left Chicago for Milwaukee, Wis., where I met with Brother G. Enright, Secretary-Treasurer of Local Union No. 601. United Association, and took up with him matters pertaining to the Vilter Ice Machine Company, of this city, prior to my meeting with officials of the company when I would take up with them the signing of the Standard National Form of Agreement.

Then I proceeded to Philadelphia, Pa., where I met with General Organizer M. McDonald and Brother A. Mehl, Business Manager of Local Union No. 420, United Association. This meeting concerned a question dealing with the installing of fly ash hoppers and the vent ducts from them to the breeching on a boiler job being installed in this city. I advised Brother Mehl that this work was now covered by the Joint National Agreement and recognized as the work of the Boilermaker. However, it was understood that the feeder valve on the bottom of the fly ash hopper and all of the fly ash piping in connection therewith was the work of the members of the United Association.

While in this city I attended a pre-arranged meeting between the Executive Committee of the Lead Burners Local Unions and representatives of some of the national operating Lead Burner Contractors.

The matter of business conducted in these meetings was the drawing up of a uniform agreement covering hours of labor, wages and working conditions affecting the members of the Lead Burners Local Unions working for Lead Burner Contractors wherever one of their jobs might be in operation.

This new agreement provides for the elimination of the so-called helper and the setting up of the proper Apprenticeship training, along with the insisting that all of the work necessary to complete a lead burning job shall be covered in the contract of the Lead Burner Contractors and that all work necessary to make a completed lead burning job must be handled.

fabricated and installed by members of the Lead Burners Local Union or other United Association members, who might be working with and through the Lead Burners Local Union.

Much credit is due these Brothers of the Executive Committee of the Lead Burners for their determination in bettering the working conditions, along with the protecting of the United Association jurisdiction of work.

From Philadelphia I proceeded to Washington, D. C., to attend a meeting that had been requested by representatives of the Fabricator and Erecting Contractors. General President Martin P. Durkin along with members of the Industrial Relations Committee representing the Fitters—General Vice President Leo A. Green, Brother R. Lynch, Business Manager of Local Union No. 274, United Association, of Jersey City, N. J., and myself represented the United Association at this meeting.

The representatives of the Contractors were anxious to learn if all articles of the Standard National Form of Agreement were to be lived up to and recognized by all Local Unions of the United Association. General President Martin P. Durkin, and the members of the committee, assured the contractors that the United Association will carry out in full and enforce all terms of the Agreement.

However, General President Martin P. Durkin, and the Committee, admonished the representatives of the Fabricator and Erecting Contractors for the actions of some of their group in not cooperating with a Pipe Fitting contractor who would be engaged on the installation of a pipe fitting job where pipe bends and welded pipe formations were being furnished by a Pipe Fabricating contractor to the particular job.

The United Association Committee is concerned about this matter, due to the fact that when a Pipe Fitting contractor has only a labor contract and is forced to become a labor broker on a Pipe Fitting job, it reacts against what would be the best conditions for our United Association Journeymen in the way of leading to jurisdictional controversies with other crafts due to the fabricated material not being under control of the Piping contractor; and we further find that the only cushion a contractor has on a labor broker set-up is to rawhide and drive the Journeymen of the United Association, in order to protect his profit on a job.

While in Washington I took up other matters with General President

Martin P. Durkin and General Secretary-Treasurer Edward J. Hillock.

From Washington I proceeded to New York City where I met with Mr. Branch, President of the Stone and Webster Engineering Corporation. At this meeting the Standard National Form of Agreement was entered into and signed with this company.

This Agreement now supersedes and takes the place of the exchange of letters that had previously passed between this company and our late General President George Masterton.

While in New York I met with General Organizer John Regan and Brothers P. Bradley and H. Donahue of Local Union No. 638, United Association. This meeting was held for the purpose of going into matters that were retarding the promotion of the so-called Service Men working for the Johnson Service Company and the Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Company, now doing maintenance work in connection with their pneumatic temperature control systems. These two companies, as well as the Powers Regulator Company, have signed the Standard National Form of Agreement, and under its terms, and my understanding arrived at with these companies, there is to be no secondary rate of wage on any of their work and the two mentioned companies in New York City have agreed that when these men are promoted to the status of full Construction Journeymen Steam Fitters, they will be paid the prevailing rate established in this city for Journeymen Steam Fitters.

All points were cleared up and General Organizer Regan, along with the officers of Local Union No. 638, United Association, will meet with officials of these companies in the immediate future, in order that they might work out and agree on all points at issue.

Met with Mr. J. Alpine, of the Grinnell Corporation, in his New York office, to further go into the re-classifying and the setting up of proper wage rates for the United Association Shopmen of Local Union No. 641, United Association, of Warren, Ohio. This was necessary due to a misunderstanding that had developed between Mr. Dolnick, job analyst and rate adjuster for Local Union No. 641, United Association, and Mr. Lund, plant manager of the Grinnell Corporation, in Warren, Ohio. A telephone conversation between Mr. Alpine, Mr. Lund and myself was held and our original understanding was confirmed. This information was then passed on to Mr. Dolnick and General Organizer L. Dilg, in order that they would then be in a position to carry on.

While in New York I visited Jersey City and met with Brother R. Lynch, Business Manager of Local Union No. 274, United Association, and together we attended a meeting of a group of officers representing an Independent Union whose members are presently employed in a large Pipe Fabricating shop in this city.

We explained to the group present how it would be possible for their entire Independent Union to become members of the United Association as a Local Union, along with all of the advantage that we felt would be enjoyed and gained by this affiliation.

Another meeting held, while in this city, was with an official of an Electric Generating Service Company, who was desirous of discussing and entering into a National Agreement with the United Association, in order to employ members of the United Association on the building of their new power generating stations and additions. I had some previous knowledge of the status of this company, also some of their operations of work, and upon my further inquiring I learned that they were the same as any utility company, producing and supplying gas and electricity to the consuming public, and they were not a contractor who is actively and regularly engaged in pipe fitting installation work and it was determined that we could not, and would not, for the best interest of the members of the United Association enter into a National Form of Agreement with them and they were so notified.

Before leaving New York city I had the pleasure and opportunity of meeting General Vice President W. McLaughlin of Brooklyn, Brother W. Dodd, Business Manager of Local Union No. 2, United Association, along with a group of officers representing both Local Union No. 1, United Association of Brooklyn and Local Union No. 2, United Association of New York.

From New York I proceeded to Pittsburgh, Pa., where I met with General Vice President L. A. Green and together we waited on the Pennsylvania Industrial Engineer Company. This company was interested in the discussing and signing of the National Agreement with the United Association, to cover the installation of pipe work in connection with Industrial Furnaces which they design and build.

Also met with representatives of the Koppers Company, Inc., to further discuss and clear up some questions they had in mind pertaining to the Standard National Form of Agreement.

Left Pittsburgh for Chicago to meet with representatives of the C. F. Braun Company of Los Angeles, Calif. These representatives were desirous of going over the terms of the Standard Form of Agreement, in order that they might report back to their company on same.

A future meeting will be held with this company.

While in Chicago I met with officers of the Powers Regulator Company and went over conditions affecting their work in New York City, also certain complaints that I had received from General Organizer John Bruce, of Canada, regarding the installation of their equipment in certain parts of Canada.

This company is to make an investigation on these complaints and they assured me they were unaware of any irregularities existing and that should they find it so they will see that conditions will be cleared.

This company has now signed the Standard National Form of Agreement with the United Association.

From Chicago I proceeded to Toledo, Ohio, to meet with Brother S. Green, Business Representative of Local Union No. 50, United Association, and officials of the Shaw-Kendall Company of this city.

At this meeting the Agreement covering members of Local Union No. 50, United Association, employed by this company in their Pipe Fabricating shop, was consummated and signed. This new Agreement now provides that all of the men doing pipe bending, laying out, setting up and welding of pipe formations, operating of Van Stone machines and operating of Pipe Machines, will be performed by Journeymen and their Apprentices, under the prevailing Building Construction wage rates and the members now performing such work will be promoted to full Construction Journeymen Steam Fitters being interchangeable between the shop and the job in the construction field or from the construction job back into the shop.

The miscellaneous group employed in the shop and who are members of Local Union No. 50, United Association, will be set up in two brackets, known as semi-skilled and un-skilled, with a single wage rate for each of these classifications. This Agreement is now being processed for approval through the proper governmental agencies.

While in Toledo, I received a telephone call from General Organizer W. C. O'Neill, from the General Office, requesting that myself and Brother S. Green visit the Packard Motor Car job and investigate certain work that the Millwrights had requested a decision on through their International Officers.

Upon visiting this job we learned that the work being claimed by the Millwrights was self-contained pumps, self-contained air compressors and a certain type of a self-contained air blower and/or low pressure air compressor. All of this equipment was being installed with a complex piping system for the purpose of testing out airplane engine carburetors under different atmospheric conditions and different altitude pressure. All of this work, along with the piping and refrigeration system was definitely the work of the members of the United Association.

In this particular case the Millwrights had not waited upon the officers of our Local Union nor the Local Building Trades Council. A wire of protest from Local Union No. 50, United Association, through the Local Toledo Building Trades Council was forwarded to the Building Trades Department and a copy of the same was forwarded to General President Martin P. Durkin, who was in Chicago at the time attending the Executive Council meeting of the Building Trades Department.

General President Martin P. Durkin took the matter up with the International Officers of the Carpenters and Millwrights and it was agreed that pre-assembled pumps and compressors, on this job, was the work of the members of the United Association and that any pump or compressor sent to the job in a knocked-down condition that required assembling on the job would be performed by the Millwrights, as in keeping with all of the past decisions that had been rendered by the Building Trades Department.

This information was forwarded on to Brother S. Green and he later informed me that the members of his Local Union were proceeding with the handling and setting of the pre-assembled equipment that had been in dispute.

I am closing this report from Toledo, Ohio.

As a matter of information to the membership of the United Association, National Agreements have been signed during this month with the Stone and Webster Engineering Corporation, of New York, who engage in engineering, designing and building of power houses, oil refineries, chemical plants, industrial plants and general pipe fitting installations of all types.

Powers Regulator Company, of Chicago, who engage in the installation and maintaining of pneumatic heat regulating systems—also other types of regulation systems.

Since my last report a National Agreement was also entered into and signed with Burford, Hall and Smith, of Atlanta, Ga. This firm is engaged in the designing, engineering and installation of power plants, power plant equipment, pumping machinery, water filtration and purification plants.

This particular agreement was negotiated and signed on behalf of the United Association by General Organizer S. E. Roper.

171 United Association Constitution."

It was not my intention to erroneously misguide any person to think that National Agreements assure those members working under same any immunity regarding the United Association Constitution.

At the start of this report and upon instructions from the General Office I called on Local Union No. 420, of Philadelphia, Pa., and talked to Secretary William Robinson regarding the Clearance Card of Brother Labrosky which concluded in Brother Labrosky mailing his card to Secretary Robinson for acceptance.

My next assignment was to the Executive Board of Local Union No. 690, Philadelphia, Pa., regarding complaints made by Member Charles Stigale who acted for several No. 690 members regarding the recent election and its results, also motion by members to have verification sheet at election and eligibility of members to vote.

It was necessary to attend several meetings of the Board at which times all officers and complainants were present. Result was a better understanding for future elections and harmony.

It was my pleasure to install the elected officers at a regular meeting and to address the membership, my topic being "Organize the Industry" and advantages of same. Local Union No. 690 and officers are cooperating in this respect and a drive is on at the present time to unionize shops, especially small jobbing and one-man shops in the nearby towns as well as Philadelphia proper.

Next to Bernardsville, N. J., at which city I met Business Agent Arthur Hillicker and the Executive Board of Local Union No. 300, on a complaint of Louis Elling, representing Elling Brothers, Plumbing and Heating Contractors of Somerville, New Jersey.

This case was settled by agreement that Elling Company will pay the claim for three days pay due Brother P. Mauro to the Benevolent Fund of Local Union No. 300. This fund is used strictly for charitable and benevolent disposition. It was also agreed that should Elling Brothers Shop need a Fitter, Brother P. Mauro shall be given work opportunity. (Note:) Mr. Elling was most cooperative and reasonable regarding this matter.

And next to Pittsburgh, Pa., to the office of Local 449 regarding a jurisdictional controversy involving the Iron Workers and our Local Union No. 449 Fitters, from which a visit was made to the job site located at Springdale, Pa. Present were Mr. Hamilton, General Superintendent, and Mr. Duncan, job superintendent for Sanderson and Porter Co., New York City, N. Y.

Agreement was reached in this matter that United Association members shall distribute all Fitters materials in building and have full use of three-ton single line hoist (power) and rig, distribute and place pipe and fittings in position for installation. Settlement and use of wench truck and interpretation of Building Trades Department decision regarding power equipment shall be determined by the Pittsburgh, Pa., Building Trades Council. It being understood no wench truck would be used to bring materials from yard and freight cars until issue was settled. Business Agent Johnson and the writer would not concede wench truck in the meaning of "all power equipment."

If and when issue is settled that wench trucks shall be used by all tradesmen, then Fitters shall have full use of same.

Next to New York City, N. Y., to confer with Mr. Dapew in charge of the Office of Aeronautic Administration, also Mr. Phillips and Brown regarding a matter of surface drainage piping on the Wilkes Barre-Scranton, Pa., super airport, located at Avoca, Pa. I also talked to Business Agent William McKee of Local Union No. 90, Scranton, Pa., on the matter of manning the job if possible until my recommendations and report to the General Office could be acted upon.

My next assignment brought me to Newark, N. J., at which city a conference was held with officers of Local Unions Nos. 245 and 475 in the office of Local Union No. 475. Present were Business Agents Nolan, Crowley, Gunther, and Board Members of Local Union No. 475, also Business Agent Bradley and board members of Local Union No. 245. This conference was held in regard to interpretation of agreement between both locals. It was agreed Business Agents Nolan, Bradley and your reporter will settle disputes on the job site should same arise. It being understood the words "either Plumber or Fitter shall do the work," does not of necessity mean both Plumber and Steam Fitter shall do the work on a 50-50 basis, and the employer could employ all Fitters or all Plumbers or both. The employer must use (either) one or the other.

While in Newark, N. J., I visited with Jack Lee, Business Agent of Local Union No. 24, on the matter of organization of all men coming under the jurisdiction of Local Union No. 24, also the condition of increased pay.

Next by request of Business Agent James O'Neill of Philadelphia, Pa., Local Union 690, a conference was held at Llanerch, Pa., with the Conference Board of the Master Plumbers Association of Chester, Delaware, and Montgomery counties; also present were Business Agents Sherry, McDonough, and Boisbrun. Conditions of trade and initiation fee, wages, and working conditions were discussed fully. The Employers Board was representing approximately 51 shops and will report to their meeting, and appointment will be made for future meetings. Results of same shall be reported.

And, next to Scranton, Pa., to meet, by appointment, Organizer William Kelly of the Carpenters International Union on a matter of jurisdiction of work. A visit was made to the job site, General Electric Co. It was agreed Fitters shall handle, set, and pipe approximately 51 presses. Millwrights shall make all mechanical repairs and adjustments to presses. Business Agent Joseph Padden of Local Union No. 524 was present with Carpenters Local Business Agent Summerall.

Next to Jersey City, N. J., to address a mass meeting of the employees of the L. O. Coven Company, fabricators of plumbing and steam fitters supplies. At the meeting there were approximately 225 men and women present comprising the day shift of which 180 signed United Association applications, and approximately 100 night shift workers. In all we have 300 members signed up in two days. The L. O. Coven Company has another shop located at Dover, N. J. It is our ambition to sign this shop 100 per cent in the immediate future. Present at the mass meeting in the Jersey City Garden were Business Agents Frank Denike, Robert Lynch, and Martin Bacon, Business Agent of the Bakery Workers Union, and a member of the War Labor Board Panel. These men are to be congratulated, they are making better conditions and wages for their fellow craftsmen and making work opportunity for their present members.

Next a call on Business Agent Gus Kiel, Local Union No. 49, of Paterson, N. J. This is the second time Gus and the writer had to postpone our meeting with the employers because in both instances rain and floods kept the employers committee on agreement busy saving the property of their customers. In the near future, we will see this anticipated conference fulfilled.

My next assignment brought me to Long Beach, N. J., to attend the New Jersey State Association Conference. This convention was well attended by the Business Agents and Delegates of our New Jersey Local Unions. Progressive thoughts were expressed and post-war programs were left in the hands of the Executive Board for consideration and recommendation to the next conference three months hence.

Next to Philadelphia to meet with Business Agent James O'Neill and Business Agent Al Mehl of Local Unions Nos. 690 and 420 regarding a vacancy to be filled on the Building Trades Executive Board. Business Agent O'Neill supported Business Agent Mehl and as a consequence Mehl was elected. This kind of cooperation will prove beneficial to members of both Local Unions by giving our pipe trades a man on this important board who will battle, if necessary, for the interest of all United Association members.

Accompanied by General Organizer Michael Garrett, it was my sad duty to attend the wake of John McCurry, Assistant to General President Brown, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, at New Haven, Conn. Brother Garrett and the writer visited the home of the late John McCurry and extended in behalf of General President Durkin and General Secretary-Treasurer Hillock, our sympathy and condolences to Mrs. McCurry and her family.

John McCurry, a personal friend of many years standing, was sincere and honest in thought and action; his strenuous and splendid life was dominated by the love which he bore to our nation, and by the eager and passionate desire to help his friends. His loss to the laboring people, the Electrical Workers Union, and the war effort will be keenly felt. His memory shall endure to inspire those to follow.

My next assignment brought me to Norristown, Pa. By appointment I met Business Agent Dwyers, also the Executive Board of Local Union No. 428. Purpose was organization of small shops in the jurisdiction of Local Union No. 428. These progressive officers recommended and the membership accepted a reduced initiation fee of $3.00 and a month's dues to the member bringing in a signed application.

I predict a job of organization well done for the near future.

Back to Philadelphia, Pa., for a conference with General Organizer McCartin, who informed me on the up-to-the-minute understandings regarding International Boiler Makers Union; also present at the conference was Business Agent Al Mehl of Local Union No. 420 and Edward Dwire, President of the State Association.

In closing I am reminded of Labor Day. The idea was first suggested by P. J. McGuire on May 8, 1882, at a meeting of the Central Labor Union of New York. Through the medium of organization, we have come a long way socially, economically, and educationally. Let us strive to organize our industry that posterity shall be served, keeping in mind and alive the spirit of our benefactors.

When I arrived at Memphis, Tenn., received a telegram directing me to proceed to Front Royal, Va., immediately because there was a stoppage of work on the Hoffman & Wolf job at the American Viscose Construction plant. The Rust Engineering Company are the prime contractors. The reason for this unsanctioned walk-out was that the shop steward was in a dispute with one

of the foremen, and was discharged because it happened inside the plant. A meeting was called and a committee was appointed to demand the reinstatement of the shop steward, or the whole group would walk off. The firm would not put the steward back so the men walked off. The Business Agent ordered the men back to work, but they refused to obey his instructions. That was the reason I was requested to proceed to the project.

This plant has the highest priority that can be obtained, and that was the reason the General Office was able to get a priority on a plane to Washington for me. That being the nearest airport to Front Royal, Va. I arranged to meet the new Business Agent, also the former Business Agent, Brother Joinville and Brother King, of Local Union No. 10, at the General Office, and together we went to the project. When we arrived on the scene there was a picket line there. I ordered the picket line removed. Then while meeting with the superintendent, Brother Sicklemier, the unofficial committee appointed by the men on the job, not Local Union No. 10 of Richmond who have jurisdiction over this project, insisted that they be permitted to be present at the meeting. I refused to have anything to do with this committee and told them there would be no meeting and no effort would be made to adjust the grievance while they were present, but that I would meet all the men affiliated with the United Association after the meeting with the firm.

At the meeting with the representative of Hoffman and Wolf, the piping contractors, I stated that the men had no right to walk off the job for any reason, until every effort was exhausted to adjust the difference. The firm was also equally at fault for discharging the shop steward, "who, after all, was appointed by the Union in agreement with the firm," without giving the representative of the Union the opportunity to adjust the grievance. Particularly is this true because this firm has received much assistance from the General Office in receiving orders for additional work, and in the case of supplying Plumbers and Steam Fitters to assist the Lead Burners, have received an extra or other compensation for the expending of half a million dollars, and this without any effort by the firm.

The superintendent realizing a mistake was made, agreed to reinstate the shop steward and, consequently, the men returned to work. It was necessary to hold a meeting with all the men who desired to be in attendance, and explain the mistake made by them in leaving the job without going through the legal channels as per agreements and the Constitution. It was also explained that the original job on the inside work that they were working on now was done by the non-union Maintenance Workers inside the plant, and that there was no strike or walkout then, and no question of jurisdiction of work; everyone doing as they were told. Also, that when they were off the job they left the jurisdiction open and unprotected; that decisions gained by the United Association on that job not later than two months ago were liable to be lost to us. I also explained that they were not helping their own locals as Ambassadors of Good Will when they took matters into their own hands and refused to obey the requests of the Local's Business Agent, when members of the Committee "unofficial of course" stated at this meeting that they were paying the General Officers and were going to tell them what to do. It was then that I told them that any time any one or any group was going to act as they did, and disregard agreements, the Constitution and the general policy of the United Association; that this representative was going to decide the same way, no matter what the outcome.

These men would not pull anything like this in their home locals, and I cannot understand what makes them think they are privileged to do so in the jurisdiction of a sister local.

This plant supplies the material necessary for the large bombers.

Secretary White of Local Union No. 640, Greensboro, N. C., requested jurisdiction over Danville, Va. After a complete investigation, it is my recommendation that Local Union No. 640 be granted temporary jurisdiction over jobs at Danville, Va.

At the request of Business Agent Carl Maus of Local Union No. 470, Charleston, S. C., for jurisdiction over Orangeburg County, I made a thorough investigation, and recommend the following:

Local Union No. 470 of Charleston is to have temporary jurisdiction over a paper mill to be built in Orangeburg county with the stipulation that when additional men are needed preference will be given to Local Union No. 227, Columbia, S. C., the nearest local.

Business Agent Cooper of Local Union No. 491, of Roanoke, has been requesting my services for some time, asking me to attend the meeting of the local and I would like to attend more often, not only this local, but every local meeting in the district in which I work, but to do this it would be necessary to neglect my assignments, and that cannot be done, because they are important to the general organization.

When organizers are able to attend meetings more often it will not be good for the membership, because it will be an indication that work is scarce, and I don't want to see that day, because it will not be good news for anyone.

Attended the regular meeting of Local Union No. 491, in Roanoke, Va., on Saturday, July 7, 1945, and was accorded the privilege of installing the officers for the coming year.

Many questions come up on jobs in the territory of Local Union No. 491, particularly the Radford job of Nason and Hanger, now manned by union employers and Journeymen, the first time since 1940, and, naturally, anything went. Everybody installed anybody's work with no complaint. This, of course, makes it that much harder to insist on trade jurisdictional lines, but we are doing very well. "I am crossing my fingers," and if we continue everything will be all right. The Clearance Card with the title "Pipe Fitter" had to be explained because for some years in this part of the country a man who could not qualify as a Steam Fitter or Plumber was given the title of "Pipe Fitter," because of the emergency, and the locals here thought it was the same elsewhere.

Early in April of this year I was requested by General President Durkin to proceed to Lynchburg, Va., to arrange a meeting between the Master Plumbers Association and Local Union No. 216. When I arrived in Lynchburg the Master Plumbers were attending a convention of their State Association at Richmond.

The question to be ironed out was: a Mr. Burgess, a member of the Master Plumbers Association, was called in by the Merritt Chapman and Scott Company, who have a job in this territory, to do the pipe work. Then the Business Agent visited the job and the Merritt Chapman and Scott Company told him that they had an agreement with the United Association and requested him to send them two men. Business Agent Bruce called the General Office and because of rulings of the War Labor Board and because this firm, Merritt Chapman and Scott, could prove that they employed members of the United Association on various occasions, Business Agent Bruce was advised to give Merritt Chapman and Scott men. When Mr. Burgess called the General Office on the phone and put in a complaint against the Business Agent because he furnished men direct to Merritt Chapman and Scott, that was the reason I was requested to go to Lynchburg; however, a meeting was arranged by me with a committee of Master Plumbers and a committee of Local Union No. 216. Mr. Burgess and Business Agent Bruce also were present. We met at the Virginian Hotel on Monday, July 9. The whole subject matter was discussed, and these facts were brought out that Mr. Burgess who has been in the Plumbing and Heating business for 30 years and is president of the State Association of Master Plumbers of Virginia, never had an agreement with our local or with any local of the United Association, and no member of the committee ever had an agreement or hired Union men by agreement, but Business Agent Bruce signed an agreement with Mr. Burgess so that he, Mr. Burgess, could show the Merritt Chapman and Scott Company that he could supply Union men. The Business Agent acting with the thought in mind that if a Lynchburg employer could get this job, it would go a long way toward getting a general agreement. Now, as far as I can see, Merritt Chapman and Scott had a better claim for the United Association to furnish them with men than any contractor in Lynchburg. They have had agreements with the American Federation of Labor Unions for years and have a very good reputation, and have aided the United Association on some occasions, and wherever they were able to obtain members of the United Association the Union and the members were well satisfied, and there is justification for the United Association to be in agreement with the firm of Merritt Chapman and Scott at least in my opinion. The Business Agent admitted that he should have advised with Mr. Burgess about the understanding with the Merritt Chapman and Scott firm.

Received a letter on June 28 in which Secretary Shuffler of Local No. 785, Raleigh, N. C., desires jurisdiction over the addition to the Veterans' Hospital at Fayetteville, N. C.

After a complete investigation, it is my recommendation that Local Union No. 785 be awarded this jurisdiction temporarily.

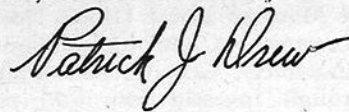

At Knoxville the case of Brother William H. Borden and his letter to the General Office, in which he states he was refused employment by Local Union No. 102, was brought to the attention of the Business Agents—their answer was that it was not true, that Brother Borden went to work in the jurisdiction of Local Union No. 102 on September 20, 1944 for the Midwest Piping and Supply Company. He stayed with the Company for a short time and then was sent to Hopkins and Hicks Company. He only stayed there a short time and then was referred to Poe Piping Company. He left this company and came to their office and demanded that he be sent back to Hopkins and Hicks. This company did not have any requisition for men at that time, so he was given a referral to Stone and Webster Engineering Corporation. He accepted the referral but did not go to work and at the time he sent the telegram, he had a referral slip in his pocket. He has cleared out of Local No. 102, and his present whereabouts are unknown.

Received a copy of a letter sent to the General Office by A. L. Nickens, a Sprinkler Fitter of Nashville, Tenn., in which he asked if a city water connection necessary for Sprinkler System is the work of the Plumber or Sprinkler Fitter. He states, also, that no connection comes off this line for any other purpose. He stated that he worked for John Bouchard Sons Company in Nashville. In company of Business Agent McCue, we went to Mr. Bouchard's shop to try and contact Brother Nickens, and met the employer, and the Superintendent of that shop, and they informed us that it was on their suggestion that Brother Nickens sent the letter, and that my explanation would be conveyed to Brother Nickens.

I told them that bringing the water into the building to the valve or meter was work that was known to be in possession of the Plumbers.

He showed me a letter sent to him by General Secretary Thomas E. Burke in 1940, that was very broad in scope. I don't know the circumstances in connection with that letter, or the reason for it. However, there may be unusual instances where it would be necessary to look over the job.

My report begins in Dayton, Ohio, where several matters relating to the welfare of Local Union No. 162 had been referred to me by General Secretary-Treasurer Hillock. It was my pleasure to attend a regular meeting of the Local Union and to install the newly elected officers. I also was given the privilege of speaking a few words and brought to the attention of those attending, some of the problems being met by the United Association and its local unions today. The meeting was well attended, in fact it was an overflow crowd, and the interest shown by the members is an incentive to the incoming officers to continue the progress made in the past.

By direction of President Durkin, I then proceeded to Paducah, Ky., where I met the officers of Local Union No. 184 and went into the matter of a recent election held by the Local Union. Notwithstanding a practice which had been in effect since the inception of the Local Union to hold the regular election of officers on the last meeting of the year, a motion had carried to hold the election of officers on that particular night which happened to be the last meeting in June, and new officers had been elected. I pointed out to the members of the Local Union that while the Constitution of the United Association provides that elections may take place either in June or December, it also provides that officers shall hold office for at least one year and that if it desired a change of time for elections that the change must be made in the proper manner and all the members of the Local Union notified. Thus, the recent election was held to be illegal and the former officers were continued in office.

Then to Washington, D. C., to confer with President Durkin and Secretary Hillock on several matters important to my district. They were very helpful and their advice will be of great assistance to me in the future.

At the request of Brother A. J. Frecka, Business Representative of Local Union No. 219, I visited Akron, Ohio, and attended a regular meeting of the Local Union. This was an occasion to be remembered, for besides having the honor of obligating the newly elected officers, it was also my privilege and honor to bestow a Life Membership on David J. Willis, Card No. 72252, in the name of Local Union No. 219. Brother Willis served his apprenticeship in Belfast, Ireland, and was associated with our former Secretary-Treasurer Thomas E. Burke, before either of them came to this country. He has been a member of Local Union No. 219 since that time and has always been eager and willing to serve as an officer or as a member of a committee, working at all times for the best interests of the Local Union and the United Association. The esteem and respect of the labor movement and the business world for the United Association and its methods of operating are due in a very great measure to men such as Brother Willis. These men are in every Local Union of the United Association and it is very

ORGANIZER

gratifying to be present on an occasion when one is honored.

Then to Warren, Ohio, and to attend a meeting of Local Union No. 641. This Local Union has jurisdiction over the Grinnell Company plant in Warren and while an agreement has been reached relative to working conditions, the subject of wages has yet to be discussed. Any increase must have the approval of the War Labor Board and a careful check is being made to determine the acceptable figure.

Then to Cleveland, upon directions of President Durkin, to confer with Brother Al Mathes and Miles Walsh regarding a piping installation that is contemplated for the near future. Brother Mathes and I met Mr. A. C. Neff of the Armco Company and an understanding was reached that will protect the jurisdiction of the United Association on this job.

Instructions from Secretary Hillock directed me to Detroit where a strike on the United States Rubber plant was also affecting members of the Building Trades organizations who are erecting an addition to the present facilities. Meetings were attended of the Building Trades Council and plans were made and action was taken to protect building tradesmen from unauthorized and illegitimate strikes. Respect for a picket line is inherent in members of the United Association and the Building Trades but illegal and unauthorized strikes of this character are a detriment to the labor movement.

Then to Ann Arbor, Mich., and met with a group of the local contractors and the executive board of Local Union 190, in an effort to reach an understanding on a new working agreement. A great deal of progress was made toward the final signing of the articles and another meeting was scheduled for a later date when some additional information will be available.

I returned to Detroit and while there contacted a representative of the J. M. Fauver Co. Inc., relative to the company's policy on the installation of a lubricating system involving considerable piping. It will be necessary for me to again contact this firm at a later date when it will be in a better position to answer questions.

To Monroe, Mich., and attended a meeting of Local Union No. 671. Because of its location, between Detroit and Toledo, Ohio, this Local Union is concerned with keeping its wage rate and working conditions on a par with its larger sister local unions. Suggestions were made to this end and several other matters discussed and clarified for the members.

It was then necessary for me to go into Chicago and to meet with Mr. David Dolnick, Labor Consultant, with regard to the wage structure at the Grinnell plant in Warren, Ohio. Arrangements were made at this time for a meeting at Warren with the committee from Local Union No. 641 and also a meeting with officers of the company.

Upon instructions of President Durkin, I proceeded to Steubenville, Ohio, and met with the executive board of Local Union No. 490 relative to the agreement which was being prepared for presentation to the contractors. Several suggestions were made and accepted which will later prove of value to the Local Union.

To Wheeling, W. Va., and accompanied by Brother Wilson Connelly, visited a large glass plant where members of the United Association are doing considerable work. An investigation was also made of the request of Brother Connelly for jurisdiction of an addition to the power plant near Dilles Bottoms by the Ohio Power Co. My recommendations in this matter have been referred to General Secretary-Treasurer Hillock.

Then to Huntington, W. Va., and met Brother "Red" Duncan of Local Union No. 521 and went into some of the problems affecting his district. While in Huntington I was also able to meet one of the local contractors who is engaged at Sprinkler Fitting relative to the manner he has been operating his jobs in this tri-state area. No understanding was reached at this time, however.

On instructions from General President Durkin I then visited Charleston, W. Va., and met Business Representatives Carl Medley and Ira Casdorph of Local Unions Nos. 625 and 651. An understanding was reached relative to the matter in which maintenance work on the Naval Ordnance Plant would be handled and that the conditions as they now exist would be undisturbed. The organization of the maintenance workers in the large chemical plants in the area was also discussed.

Then to Cincinnati, Ohio, where several matters were discussed with Business Representative Ben Blom and the Executive Board of Local Union 392. I was also able to meet Business Representative Burwinkel, President Wilhelme and Secretary O'Keefe of Local Union No. 59, and to take up several important matters of especial interest to Local Union No. 59.

In Fort Worth, Texas, meetings were attended with General Vice President Joseph Lahey, President Hatcher and Secretary Chandler of Local Union No. 146, Fort Worth, when matters pertaining to the apprenticeship standards and regulations adopted by the joint apprenticeship committee were gone into and discussed.

A jurisdictional issue has arisen in Orange, Texas, between the Millwrights and Pipe Fitters Local Union No. 195, over the installation of self contained pumps on the Salt Nylon plant under construction. Arrangements for a future meeting with all parties concerned has been made.

Conferences were held with Business Agent Al Duran of Local Union No. 142, San Antonio, Texas, and Mr. H. H. Cowser of the Mechanical Contractors of Brownsville, Texas, on a complaint of Mr. Cowser that Local Union No. 142, would not furnish him men on his job at Fort Sam Houston. On producing evidence that he was a legitimate licensed Master Plumber, Local Union No. 142 was instructed to furnish this firm Plumbers and Fitters.

Business Agent Hershall Dunn of Local Union No. 529, Waco, Texas, was advised on matters pertaining to Water Facility projects under construction in the jurisdiction of Local Union No. 529, made available through the Bureau of Community Facilities, F. W. A. and on other matters on which he wished information.

Upon instructions from General

Secretary-Treasurer Edward J. Hillock, Business Agent Quinn of Local Union 195, of Houston and Beaumont, was contacted in regard to a dispute Local Union No. 195 was having with the Shreveport Plumbing Company over supervision on the Kress Building in Beaumont, Texas. On submitting working rules of Local Union No. 195 to Mr. Berg, representing the Shreveport Plumbing Company, and he being convinced that the demand of Local Union No. 195 was an established policy and custom in Beaumont, Mr. Berg informed the officers of Local Union 195, that he would comply with the working rules of Local Union No. 195.

In an effort to completely organize the refrigeration service industry in Houston and Beaumont, Pipe Fitters Local Union No. 195 has placed Business Agent Thomas Brown in the field to assist Special Organizer Voss. A meeting was held with Organizer Voss, Business Manager Ray Woods, Business Agent Quinn and Brown for the purpose of outlining a program for the organization of this branch of our industry.

In Fort Worth, Texas, I was in attendance at the regular meeting of Local Union No. 146, and gave them a resume of the general conditions as found throughout the district. Much progress is being made by the local union and it is very encouraging to see what is taking place in the active interests of our membership.

Upon instructions from General President Martin P. Durkin and General Organizer John J. McCartin, I proceeded to Longview, Texas, to investigate a complaint on the F. H. McGraw Company job at Rusk, Texas, due to a controversy between Local Union No. 261 and the Boilermakers. Upon meeting with Acting Business Agent Reynolds and Mr. King, piping superintendent, it was determined that the dispute was caused by the action of the Business Agent of the Boilermakers in relinquishing the work in question to the Fitters, due to the dirty condition of the tanks to be welded. After the tanks were cleaned by the Fitters, the Boilermakers made claim for the work. An adjustment of the matter was made satisfactory to all concerned.

On instruction from the General Office proceeded to Texarkana, Texas, to investigate the complaints of some certain few members on questions affecting officers of Local Union No. 237. I am pleased to report that no basis for a complaint was found, and Local Union No. 237 was making much progress under the present administration.

In Marshall, Texas, a conference was held with Business Agent Joe Weems of Local Union No. 301, and Mr. Ralph Bailey, piping superintendent for the Associated Mechanics, when an understanding was reached on several minor complaints on the Long Horn Ordnance Plant at Karnack, Texas.

Returning to Longview, Texas, with General Vice President Joseph Lahey, attended a special meeting of the officers and members of the Executive Board of Local Union No. 261. Many matters concerning the welfare of the membership of the local were gone into including the complaint from several Master Plumbers regarding that Local Union No. 261 is permitting journeymen to work with handymen not members of the United Association in certain few shops in Longview. Instructions were given to correct this condition. Returning to Texarkana with Business Agent Johnson, visits were made to the shop of the Master Plumbers of Texarkana, when matters concerning the enforcement of the local plumbing regulations were gone into. Later in the company of Business Agent Johnson and Brother Baldwin, a visit was made to the City Hall when we met Mayor Brown, who assured us of his cooperation and enforcement of the ordinance.

While in Texarkana, a special meeting of the officers and Executive Board was attended and discussed with them many problems affecting the local union, including some internal matters. All of these were worked out to the best interests and satisfaction to the members of Local Union No. 237 and the United Association.

In Odessa, Texas, in the company of Business Agent W. W. Weeks of Local Union No. 175, a visit was made to the office of the Girdler Corporation where we met Mr. Foltz and Mr. Bowser, concerning a complaint relative to certain conditions on their job in Odessa. This was discussed and a satisfactory understanding was reached on all controversial issues.

While in Odessa, I had the pleasure of installing the Charter of the reorganized local union of West Texas. This local will be known as Plumbers and Pipe Fitters Local Union No. 239, Midland and Odessa, Texas, and will have jurisdiction over several counties in West Texas. And from all indications will be a very progressive and militant organization.

The privilege was afforded me to install an excellent staff of officers that included C. G. Burnett, President, L. R. Williams, Vice President, C. B. Beckley, Recording Secretary, W. W. Weeks, Secretary-Treasurer, and Business Agent Rush Rotan. Thomas Pearson, Clark Cunningham and B. O. Williams, members of the Executive Board.

With Business Agent Weeks of Local Union No. 239, a visit was made to the Barnesdall Refinery, Barnesdall, Texas, where we met Business Agent McMullen of the Boilermakers. The Boilermakers were claiming the setting of three Leucy Locomotive type boilers. After a lengthy discussion, it was agreed that the work in question was the work of the members of the United Association.

In the company of Business Agent Brother Weeks of Local Union No. 239, visits were made to the Columbia Carbon Black Plant at Seagraves, Texas, where we met Mr. Kintz of the Fluor Corporation to take up matters in the interests of the members of this local. Our visit to this plant will no doubt prove advantageous to the membership of this local.

In Denver City, Texas, with Business Agent Weeks of Local Union No. 239, a conference was held with Mr. Ferguson of the Gibbs & Hill Co., contractors on a power house under construction at Denver City, when the matter of control over certain types of work was discussed and favorable adjustments were made concerning work coming within the jurisdiction of the members of the United Association.

In Tulsa, Okla., a special meeting of the officers and members of the Executive Board of Pipe Fitters Local Union No. 205 was attended, when advice they were seeking in reference to organizing the Maintenance Fitters in the Mid-Continent Petroleum Refinery at Tulsa, was given. At this meeting arrangements were made to assist Special Organizer Voss in organizing the Refrigerating Service Fitters in the jurisdiction of Local Union No. 205.

In Tulsa, where a question of territorial jurisdiction had been referred to me for recommendation Local Unions Nos. 344 and 369 of Oklahoma City and Local Unions Nos. 176 and 205 of Tulsa were applying for jurisdiction over an asphalt plant to be built in Stroud, Okla. My recommendation has been forwarded to the General Office.

While in Tulsa, the regular meetings of the Executive Boards of Local Unions Nos. 176 and 205 were attended and the officers and members were advised and informed on matters concerning the many problems that the members were interested in.

Samuel E. Rogers

At Niagara Falls, N. Y. I attended the quarterly meeting of the Buffalo District Pipe Trades Council, comprising all United Association locals in the western part of the state. This was a very interesting meeting, delegates being present from the majority of the locals affiliated with this council.

Reports from the delegates indicated that all the members of their locals were working. I was privileged to address these members and discuss with them the problems confronting them in their districts, also the great need of organization in order to properly protect the industry. At the close of this session Local Union No. 129 had dinner served to all the delegates and members of their Local Union.

While in Niagara Falls I discussed with Business Agent John Costello of Local Union No. 129, the complaints that were received in the General Office in reference to jobs going on in his district. A visit was made to these jobs where we met with the Piping Contractors; after hearing both sides of the complaints an amicable understanding was arrived at.

I then attended a meeting with the Executive Board and officers of Local Union 129 when matters pertaining to finances of this local were taken up and instructions were given in accordance with the Constitution of the United Association.

Later I attended a special meeting of this local and informed the members of my meeting with their officers and outlined the policy of the United Association. While at this meeting I had the pleasure of installing the newly elected officers of this local union.

At Buffalo, N. Y. I met with Business Agent Joe Rosenberger of Local Union No. 395 of Buffalo, and with him visited the office of Joseph Davis a heating contractor in Buffalo, who has an agreement with this local for many years. The purpose of this meeting was in reference to a complaint he had sent to the General Office about the requests made by Business Agent John Costello of Local Union No. 129, of Niagara Falls in reference to a job he has in Local Union No. 129 jurisdiction. I informed him of the policy of the United Association in reference to contractors who have a signed agreement with the local unions in their district and which is now being carried out in the district of Local Union No. 129.

At Brooklyn, N. Y. Upon receipt of a wire from General Secretary-Treasurer Edward J. Hillock, stating that Marine Local Union No. 635 of Brooklyn requested the services of an organizer, I attended a regular meeting and later attended a special meeting of this local union. Several matters pertaining to the agreement they have with the Marine Basin Shipyard they wished advice on. Many new members were initiated into this local at this meeting.

At Newburgh, N. Y. Because Business Agent William McCracken of Local Union No. 269 of Newburgh, N. Y., would not furnish men to the Champion Construction Company who has the piping contract for the power house job in West Point, N. Y., at the prevailing rate of wages in this district and who was requesting that the contractor pay higher wages, which the War Department would not allow. It became necessary to take this job away from the jurisdiction of Local Union No. 269, of Newburgh. This job has now been granted to Steam Fitters Local Union No. 638 of New York City, which local has an agreement with the Champion Construction Company for many years.

At a later date after receiving a wire from General President Martin P. Durkin, I met with Business Agent William McCracken of Local 269, of Newburgh, N. Y. We then visited the Stewart Air Field where we met Mr. Schmidt, general superintendent for the Suburban Engineering Company, who has the contract for a new swimming pool there. This contractor wanted to hire our members direct instead of subletting the underground piping to a Plumbing contractor. I informed Mr. Schmidt of the policy of the United Association and requested that he sublet the piping work to a Piping contractor. We were assured that he would consider our proposal and inform us at a later date.

At Kingston, N. Y. I attended a joint meeting of the members of Local Union No. 223, comprising Plumbers, Steam Fitters and Apprentices, and Marine Local Union No. 667, both of Kingston, N. Y. The purpose of this joint meeting was in reference to amalgamating Marine Local Union No. 667 into Local Union No. 223. The amalgamation was put into effect in accordance with the agreement approved of by both local unions at a previous meeting.

I informed these members of the policy of the General Office in reference to organizing all men working at the Pipe Fitting industry and protecting the work coming under the jurisdiction of the United Association.

From the interest shown by the members I feel that a real effort will be made to carry out the policy of the General Office.

At New York City. In company with General Organizer John P. McCartin, a visit was made to the general superintendent of the American Gas Service Corporation, in reference to their requests to sign the National Agreement with the United Association. This will be reported on by General Organizer McCartin.

We then attended a meeting with Business Agent at Large Pete Bradley of Local Union No. 648, and Business Agent Harry Donahue of Local Union 638-B, in reference to the agreement with the Johnston Service Corporation. Organizer McCartin explained the National Agreement with the Johnston Service Corporation wherein all thermostatic control work is to be done by Class A Journeymen.

At a later date in company with Business Agent Harry Donahue of Local Union No. 638-B we met with Mr. Rather of the Johnston Service Corporation in reference to the local conditions added to the National Agreement. Mr. Rather assured us that when his service men are made Class A Steam Fitters he would be ready to negotiate with Local Union No. 638 for the local conditions. The Class B men have been accepted by Local Union No. 638 as Class A Steam Fitters and plans are being made to meet Mr. Rather at a future date.

At New York City. Upon receiving a wire from General Secretary-Treasurer Edward J. Hillock, a joint meeting of the Business Representatives of Plumbers Local Unions Nos. 1 and 2 of Brooklyn and New York City, respectively, was attended. The purpose of this meeting was to negotiate a new agreement with the Master Plumbers Association. This new proposed agreement is drawn up from the National Form of Agreement for Local Unions to use as a guide. Plans are being drawn up to present to the Masters for a vacation for the members of their respective locals.

Upon receiving instructions from General President Martin P. Durkin, I left for Philadelphia and attended a special meeting of Marine Local Union No. 754, whose members work in the Philadelphia Navy Yard. Several complaints that the members of this local made in reference to conditions existing at this Navy Yard were gone into and advice issued to these members. Plans are being made to present the complaints to the Navy Department with representatives of this local at a later date.

At New York City. Upon receiving instructions from General President Martin P. Durkin, a meeting was arranged between President William Dodd, Business Agent Eugene Murray of Plumbers Local Union No. 2 of New York City, Business Agent at Large Pete Bradley of Steam Fitters' Local Union No. 638 and Business Agent Harry Donahue of Local Union No. 638-B. The purpose of this meeting was in reference to the installation and service work on thermostatic control work in New York City. This question was discussed at great length and a report made to the General President.

At New York City. In company with General Vice President William McLaughlin and Business Agent Edward Bloomfield of the Beerpipe and Block Tin Plumbers Local Union No. 531 of New York City, we met with Mr. Gallagher, Metropolitan area supervisor of apprentice agreements in New York State. The purpose of this meeting was in reference to having a Plumbing apprenticeship set-up for the members of the local union. This question was discussed at great length and a tentative program has been submitted for approval.

At Brooklyn, N. Y. A meeting was arranged with General Vice President William McLaughlin, who is also Business Manager of Local Union No. 1, of Brooklyn, and Business Agent Charles Seely of Local Union No. 457 of Nassau County, L. I. The purpose of this meeting was in reference to Plumbing work being prefabricated in the yards of a plumbing supply house in Nassau County. This work is being done by members of the United Association for the prefabricated homes that are to be sent to England. The Plumbing contractor who has this contract is a Brooklyn contractor who has a signed agreement with Local Union No. 1 of Brooklyn. This work requires a great deal of space and a railroad siding which was not available in Brooklyn.

We then visited the plant of this Plumbing supply house and was assured all the work coming under the jurisdiction of the United Association was being done by our members.

At a later date in company with General Vice President William McLaughlin we went to Nassau County, L. I., and met with Business Agent Charles Seely of Local Union No. 457. Visits were made to several jobs where one family houses are being built. We found five of these projects consisting of from eight to twenty-six one family homes being built with union labor and two projects, one of eight and the other of fourteen one family homes being built non-union. We then met with the general contractor who has the contract for building these two non-union jobs to try and have him make these jobs union. After discussing the situation with the contractor, he assured us that he was willing to have his jobs go union and was willing to meet with the Building Trades Council at a later date to sign an agreement with them. Instructions were issued to Business Agent Seely to watch these jobs and to inform me of the outcome with the Building Trades Council.

At Albany, N. Y. Upon receiving a wire from General President Martin P. Durkin, I met with Business Manager Fred Whitmore of Local Union No. 7, of Albany, in reference to a Plumbing and heating contractor who sublet the underground piping to an excavating contractor for a Sprinkling job at Voorheesville, N. Y. I contacted the officials of the Ryan Plumbing and Heating Company, of Watertown, N. Y., and informed them that the underground piping came under the jurisdiction of the United Association. Further, if we are going to do the Sprinkling piping we will also do the underground piping. I was assured that the underground piping would be installed by members of the United Association and which our members are now doing.

While in Albany in company with Business Manager Fred Whitmore of Local Union No. 7, we visited the office of A. J. Port who is a Sprinkler contractor in Albany. The purpose of this visit was in reference to informing Mr. Port of the policy of the United Association in reference to having Journeymen receiving the prevailing rate of wages for cutting and threading pipe in their shop and which is then sent out to the job to be installed by Sprinkler Fitters.

Mr. Port assured us that he would consider my request and after he had had an opportunity of discussing this question with the other Sprinkler contractors he would contact me at a later date.

At Suffern, N. Y. Upon receiving a wire from General President Martin P. Durkin, I met with Business Agent James McCormick of Local Union No. 373 of Suffern, and with him visited the Lederle Laboratories, Inc., Pearl River, N. Y., and investigated the work being done by the maintenance Pipe Fitters, members of the Chemical Workers organization at this plant. Later we attended a meeting with the officers of the Chemical Workers organization. I requested that men working as Pipe Fitters in this plant who are members of their organization be turned over to Local Union No. 373. The International Representative of the Chemical Workers Organization informed us that he would submit my request to his International President for a ruling and would inform us of the same.

While visiting this plant we met with Mr. Hoyle, the Piping contractor, and discussed with him the new construction jobs about to start in this plant. A policy was outlined in order to protect the work coming under the jurisdiction of the United Association.

In San Francisco it was my privilege to attend a special meeting of Plumbers and Gas Fitters Local Union No. 442, and install the newly elected officers. It was my further pleasure to give the obligation to a group of indentured apprentices, the majority of whom are returned veterans of the present war. These veterans are undergoing indentured apprenticeship training under the provisions and benefits of the G. I. Bill of Rights. The San Francisco Plumbing Apprenticeship Committee has been designated by the California Veterans Administration as the official Agency for the registration and training of Plumber Apprentices under the terms of Public Law 346.

J. L. SPALDING

At Vallejo, Calif., contacted Business Manager Sidney Connors of Local Union No. 343, concerning questions of jurisdiction in connection with a large Federal project at Fairfield. A meeting was held between Business Manager Connors, Mr. Lowell Nelson, Executive Secretary of Solano County Building Trades Council, and Mr. J. Fortune, representing the Morrison-Knudsen-Stolte Company, General Contractors on the project, at which several controversial matters were adjusted. The United States Corps of Engineers and the contractors on this project had been reluctant to recognize payment of travel time. However, the project has started with the condition that the crafts involved will receive travel time, but the Unions will be required to prove the existence of this practice prior to October 3, 1942.

The General Engineering and Drydock Company in its shipyards at Oakland had repeatedly violated its agreement with the Bay Cities Metal Trades Council, causing a refusal of all American Federation of Labor members to continue working until the violation was either corrected voluntarily on the part of the company or through intervention by the War Labor Board. This violation by the company consisted of employing sub-contractors who in turn hired employees who were not members of the American Federation of Labor, but who were required to be members under the terms of the closed shop clause of the agreement which applied not only to the company but to all sub-contractors. Steam Fitters Local Union No. 590, covering marine jurisdiction in the San Francisco Bay area, was involved in this controversy and its membership employed by the General Engineering Company joined unanimously in this refusal by the Bay Cities Metal Trades Council to further tolerate flagrant violations of contract by the company. Following two prolonged meetings of the Metal Trades membership, the National War Labor Board intervened in the controversy and requested the employees to resume operations with the understanding that the dispute would be certified to a panel or a referee of the National War Labor Board. With this assurance from the National War Labor Board, the membership of all of the Unions affected voted unanimously to abide by the request of the Board. Subsequent meetings of the officers of the Bay Cities Metal Trades Council and President Mabon and Business Manager Gus Katsarsky of Local Union No. 590 have been held for the purpose of preparing our case for hearing. This demonstration of solidarity on the part of all American Federation of Labor affiliates within this shipyard is a very direct answer to the challenge of the shipbuilding companies in their attempt to provoke inter-union conflict, and thereby drive a wedge for the application of the open shop. The officers and members of Local Union No. 590 are highly commended for their staunch support of the Bay Cities Metal Trades Council's position and for their unanimous refusal to allow violation of contract by their employers.

Met at Long Beach with Business Manager Roy Fields of Marine Local Union No. 599 of Wilmington, to attend a conference between Southern California shipyard employers and International and local representatives of Marine Unions called for the purpose of negotiating a mutual clarification of the recent War Labor Board's ruling which awarded an upward adjustment of wages of 11.6 per cent for ship repair work over the rate for new ship construction. The National War Labor Board had indicated that the board would recognize jointly negotiated interpretations of its order by management-labor representatives covering the yards affected. As the board's ruling was open to various interpretations which would apply not only to American Federation of Labor yards but also to the some C.I.O. employees, the employers have taken every advantage to deprive workers from obtaining the full benefits of the board's ruling and the C.I.O. has consistently allowed itself to be used by the employers' committee to bludgeon an interpretation of this ruling from the American Federation of Labor representatives which would deny full benefits of these employees. Several such conferences have been held and at this writing negotiations are still continuing.

On assignment from the General Office, contacted Business Manager Ray Conley of Bakersfield Local Union No. 460, concerning several matters affecting our membership. We visited a large cycling plant near Bakersfield on which a good number of our members are employed—the writer being impressed with this new method of increasing oil production and with its resultant future potentiality for employing our membership in this area. Also discussed with Brother Conley the application now pending covering wage adjustment requested by Local Union 460; and later met with Secretary Thompson of Kern County Pipe Fitters Local Union No. 96 and Brother Conley regarding the situation existing at present in the oil and gas well drilling, and oil and gas field production workers covered by the jurisdiction of Local Union No. 96. It is the writer's intention to return to this scene at the earliest possible moment to survey conditions and offer constructive recommendations to the General Office.

At Wilmington, Calif., I attended a meeting of the Executive Officers of Marine Local Union No. 599 regarding the affiliation of that Local Union with a Marine Union Council composed of American Federation of Labor Marine Unions, but dual to the Los Angeles Metal Trades Council, and the payment of per capita into both Councils. The writer pointed out that an agreement had been reached between the International Union representatives and the representatives of the Local Unions affiliated with this dual movement and that the International representatives had abided by their portion of the agreement; that the failure of the Local Union to withdraw from the dual Council and cease its per capita payments thereto was defeating the intent and purpose of the jointly signed proposal of adjustment and that such failure tended to weaken the Local Union representatives in their attempt to obtain satisfactory adjustment of the grievances of which the unions complained. The matters in dispute have been referred to the General Office and transmitted to President Frey of the Metal Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor for investigation and adjustment.

With Business Representative R. F. Woods of Sprinkler Fitters Local Union No. 669, met in Los Angeles with Mr. Jim Shaw, Labor Relations Advisor for the United States Corps of Engineers, respecting the applica-

Technical INFORMATION

These Technical Articles are printed in the center of this Journal so they can be removed and placed in a looseleaf ring binder for permanent safe-keeping. Continuous numbers are placed in the lower corner of these pages.

Forced Hot Water Heat

This is the fourth of a series of articles on a type of heating system which by virtue of its inherent advantages has experienced a phenomenal growth in popularity within a span of relatively few years. This series of articles has been developed by J. P. Corcoran with the co-operation of the Bell and Gossett Company of Morton Grove, Illinois.

Now refer to the Pipe Sizing Table. Table A shows Total Equivalent Pipe Lengths for Pressure Heads from 2 ft. to 12 ft. Table B gives the carrying capacities (in thousands of BTU) of various sized pipes at different Friction Heads. The Friction Heads are expressed in milinches.

Reading from the right from 4 ft. Pressure Head, the closest equivalent length to our system length of 180 ft. is to be in the sixth column and is 192 ft. (Table A).

Following down this column into Table B, we see that the figure closest and (next largest) to our calculated 120,000 B.T.U. is 156,000. Reading to the left, a 1½" pipe is indicated as the size required by the trunk main.

The supply main of the longest circuit carries 64,000 BTU (320 sq. ft. of radiation). Reading in the same column of Table B, a 1¼" pipe is shown to be necessary. This same size is carried all around the circuit!

SIZING THE RISERS

The risers of a Monoflo System should be sized from Monoflo Chart Table C, working in the same milinch column used in Table B.

Note that this Table is divided into two sections—one showing the capacities of risers with a Monoflo Fitting at both supply and return connections—and one showing the capacities of risers with a Monoflo Fitting at the return riser only. The reason for this division is this:

In any hydraulic system there must be a drop in pressure or there will be no flow. This statement applies to a hot water heating system and to any part of it, including any particular length of pipe, any radiator or the boiler. For example, if the pressure at the supply end of a radiator is the same as the pressure at the return, no water can flow through the radiator.

Thus, the force which causes the flow through a branch is the difference in pressure at the supply and return ends of the branch. If this pressure difference is high, the flow will be large; if it is low, the flow will be small.

If one Monoflo Fitting and a common tee are used to connect a branch to the main the pressure drop across them is considerably lower than the pressure drop across a pair of Monoflo Tees. . . . Consequently, the flow of water is less and the BTU carrying capacity of any given pipe size is smaller than when two Monoflo Fittings are used.

This difference in capacity is clearly shown in the two divisions of Table C.

The decision as to whether to use one Monoflo Fitting or two is governed by the size and distance from the main of the connected radiator or radiators.

The characteristics of the heating system we are working on have caused it to be pipe-sized in the 250 milinch column. Radiator No. 1 carries 7,000 BTU and is located on the second floor. Referring to the 250 milinch column in the Pipe-Sizing Table for Risers we find that 10,000 BTU will be carried by a ½" pipe if two Monoflo Fittings are installed. This is greater than the required 7,000 BTU so we drop down into the table showing pipe carrying capacities with one Monoflo Fitting. Here a 7,000 BTU Radiator on a second floor is shown to be handled by a ½" pipe.

Therefore, the obvious selection is to use a ½" pipe and one Monoflo Fitting.

Radiator No. 2 requires 10,000 BTU and is on the first floor. Reference to the Table shows that this number of BTU will be carried by a ½" pipe with one Monoflo Fitting. The same size applies to radiators Nos. 3, 4 and 7.

Radiators Nos. 5 and 6 on the second floor are taken off the same riser and carry a combined load of 21,000 BTU. As shown by the Table, this load can be carried by a 1" Pipe and one Monoflo Fitting or a ¾" pipe with two Monoflo Fittings. The comparison table below shows that material cost is practically the same for either method of installation.

MONOFLO FITTINGS FOR RADIATORS BELOW THE MAIN

Each radiator below the main must be equipped with TWO down-feed Monoflo Fittings. The added resistance provided by two Fittings is necessary because circulation to a radiator below the main is working against the natural tendency of heated water to rise. Table C also lists pipe capacities for down-fed radiators.

Step No. 6

SELECTING A BOILER

Selection of a properly sized boiler should be in accordance with the standards of the heating, piping and air conditioning contractors, National Association, as published in their semi-annual bulletin, "Net load recommendations for heating boilers."

NOTE: Inasmuch as the hot water ratings in manufacturers' bulletins are based on 150 BTU per square foot heat emission, care should be taken to correct these ratings for the 200 BTU emission, of the system described here. It is good practice to install a water boiler of the same size and number of sections as required for steam when using heat emission factors from 200 to 240 BTU.

NOTE 1. 1st FLOOR UPFEED RISERS—Capacities shown in the table are based upon horizontal branch not more than 3 feet long, with stubs 18" long, or a total of 9 feet of pipe, 6 elbows, one valve and one union ell, and one C. I. Radiator are added for the equivalent length.

For each additional 10 equivalent feet of pipe, move 2 milinch columns to the right.

NOTE 2. 2nd and 3rd FLOOR UPFEED RISERS—Capacities shown are based upon horizontal branches not more than 3 feet long, with risers 10 feet high and 20 feet high respectively, 8 elbows, one valve and one union ell, and C. I. radiator are added for the equivalent length.

NOTE—The figures shown in these tables apply to both steel pipe and Type L copper tubing, as capacity differences are not sufficient to cause design errors.

GENERAL PLAN

This should be as simple as possible, following a pattern which will serve each radiator with a short branch, if this can be accomplished without lengthening the main unduly or creating an unreasonable number of breaks in its direction or level.

LOCATION OF BOILER

The boiler can be placed at any convenient location. It can be located in the basement, or on the ground floor, or in a detached building. The B. & G. Monoflo System permits the installation of all or any part of the radiation below the level of the main which eliminates the necessity of excavating for a boiler room only.

TRUNK AND SUPPLY MAINS

When the main is to be divided into two or more circuits, no radiator connections should be taken off the trunk main which feeds the supply mains. In cases where the supply mains are smaller than the trunk main, the reduction should be made by means of eccentric reducers, keeping the tops of the pipes level.

Note here that one of the major differences between sizing a two-pipe and a B. & G. Monoflo installation is that in the latter system, the supply mains are kept at one size all through the circuit, instead of reducing them as radiators are taken off the line.

LEVELS AND GRADING OF TRUNK AND SUPPLY MAINS

When conditions demand it, it is perfectly permissible to run one part of a circuit at a higher level than the balance of it, or one circuit at a higher level than its companion circuit, or to run one trunk main to circuits higher than those served by another trunk main. Naturally, these changes in level will add to the friction loss of the system and must be compensated for by increasing the Equivalent Length by the necessary amount of elbow equivalents and straight pipe. It is also necessary that the high points be automatically vented.

In the case of divided circuits, it is frequently possible to plan the mains in such a manner that the return ends of the supply mains can be dropped directly into a pump header connected to the boiler. Otherwise, a return trunk main should be employed to complete the connection to the boiler. Do not use bull head connections on any returns!

If most of the radiation is above the main, B. & G. Monoflo System mains can be carried level or graded. If graded, be sure that the mains pitch-up in the direction of water flow and are vented automatically at the high point. Mains run level must be accurately checked with a special level.

Where all radiation is below the main, pipes must be graded 1/2" in 10 ft. in the direction of water flow, and the high points automatically vented.

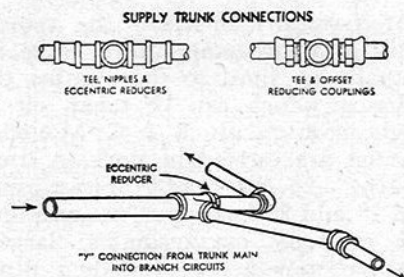

Fig. 89. Supply trunk connections for B and G Monoflo System.

RETURN TRUNK CONNECTIONS

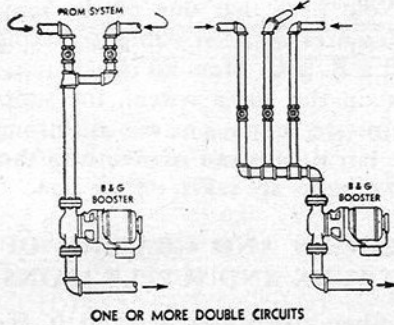

Fig. 90. Return trunk connections for Monoflo System—one or more double circuits.

PUMP CONNECTIONS

The pump should be installed in either the supply or return main as close to the boiler as possible. It is good practice to install a square head cock or gate valve on each single circuit and between the pump and the boiler.

VENTING

To automatically vent air in branches to down-fed radiators, connections should be made, using special Down-Feed Monoflo Fittings.

COMPRESSION TANK

It is recommended that the B. & G. Monoflo System be installed as a closed system with a compression tank.

Do not use a cheap range boiler—use a regular, tested B. & G. Air Cushion or Simplex Compression Tank.

UNBALANCED CIRCUITS

Where one main circuit is considerably shorter than the other, smaller friction loss will obviously cause a faster circulation in the shorter circuit. To compensate for this, a square head cock or gate valve should be installed as indicated in Fig. 90, so that flow of water can be throttled down in the shorter circuit. Thermometers located in the returns ahead of the square head cocks provide an accurate check on the balance of the system.

LIMITATIONS OF PIPE SIZE

Mechanically or from the standpoint of water temperature, there is virtually no limit to the number of radiators which can be taken off a single main circuit. B. & G. Monoflo Fittings are carried in stock in sizes 1"—1 1/4"—2"—2 1/2" and 3" in cast iron, and 1" and 2" in copper, because under ordinary circumstances, larger sizes are not necessary. When pipe sizing according to the B. & G. method, if the mains figure out to be larger than 3", they should be divided into the number of circuits necessary to keep pipe within the maximum size. Except on very small jobs, a more flexible installation can be obtained by dividing the system into two or more circuits.

PIPE SIZING CONVECTOR SYSTEMS

The use of copper convectors and unit heaters on hot water heating systems requires special consideration of the pressure drop through the units. Generally speaking, the water passages through a convector or unit heater are small in comparison with the passages of a cast iron radiator and hence interpose a greater resistance.

This means that the amount of water required to deliver the rated capacity of the unit must move through the unit with a relatively high velocity. Otherwise, there will be a high temperature drop between the inlet and outlet of the unit, with a resulting low average temperature and a lower emission rate than the rated capacity.

First, obtain from the manufacturer the pressure drop of his heating units in milinches. Next, determine the pump and main size as explained previously. To size the risers, use the Conversion Tables in accordance with numbers of Monoflo Fittings used per branch.

EXAMPLE — INSTALLATIONS WITH TWO MONOFLO FITTINGS.

Assume that a system is designed on a 20° temperature drop with a 300 milinch resistance in the main. A 10,000 BTU Convector on the second floor has a pressure drop through it of 3360 milinches. The risers, equipped with two Monoflo Fittings, should be sized as follows:

Reading upward from the 300 mil-inch point on the Conversion Table to the intersection with 3360 milinch loss in the heating unit indicates that the riser capacity is only 75% of the value in the standard Monoflo riser table.

The capacity of a 1/2" pipe with cast iron radiation is shown in the table to be 11,000 BTU. 75% of this is 8250 BTU. Since the radiator requires 10,000 BTU, it is necessary to go to a 3/4" pipe.

If the riser capacities are shown to be less than 25% of the standard Monoflo pipe capacity table, it is advisable to recalculate the system, using a larger pump with correspondingly higher head pressure. This will make available a higher milinch per foot pressure in the main, which may also result in a smaller main size.

Where both convectors and cast iron radiators are used, the system should be so designed that each type is on a separate circuit, so that the pipe can be sized in accordance with the differing requirements.

Where unit heaters comprise either all or part of the heating units in the system, it is recommended that they be installed on a two-pipe circuit, rather than a Monoflo Circuit. This is because the high pressure drop through the unit and the large quantities of water involved exceed the diversion capacities of standard size Monoflo Fittings. A good example of correct piping for a system employing both cast iron radiation and unit heaters is shown in Fig. 98.

Conversion charts and Figures 91 to 105 will be shown in the October issue.

tion for wage adjustment for Sprinkler Fitters on the San Bernardino Airport and warehouses as such application affects the automatic sprinkler industry in Brother Woods' jurisdiction. The application has been filed in Washington under the rare and unusual category and requests permission be granted the contractors to pay the same rate to Sprinkler Fitters on this project as paid to Plumbers and Steam Fitters. This application together with an identical one from the Rough and Ready Island Job at Stockton, Calif., is being processed through the General Office with the hope that approval will expedite the manning of these projects. Other matters assigned by the General Office were also taken up with Brother Woods.

Attended in San Francisco, a hearing before the Panel of the National War Labor Board concerning a dispute between Steam Fitters Local Union No. 590 and C. I. O. Machinists on the interpretation of status quo jurisdiction in the shipyards of the Moore Drydock Company. The company had consistently violated the ruling that the two unions would be assigned work under the jurisdictional status quo existing at the time of a previous dispute of a similar nature. This matter is still pending before the Panel for further hearing and full consultation has been had between the officers of Local Union No. 590 and the United Association General Office.

With the cooperation of the General Office Local Union No. 78 of Los Angeles; 280 Pasadena; 398 Pomona; 545 Santa Maria; 494 Long Beach, and 761 Glendale, received a wage adjustment to $1.75 per hour from the Wage Adjustment Board to apply to all members of the California Pipe Trades Council of the United Association. This new rate brings uniformity in the Plumbing and Steam Fitting trade within the jurisdiction of the above mentioned locals.

At San Francisco a conference was called of representatives of building trades unions involved in maintenance work on Federal Public Housing projects in the northern California area. This conference was attended by Mr. Walter Price, Director of Labor Relations for the Federal Public Housing Authority, and Mr. T. M. Gillin, Senior Labor Relations Advisor in the Southwest Region of the Federal Public Housing Authority. Mr. Price outlined for the conference the policies, procedures and regulations within which Public Housing projects must be maintained, and outlined the advantages and limitations applicable to building trades maintenance workers on projects managed by Federal Public Housing Authority and local housing authorities. As the Labor Relations Division was charged with the responsibility of determining prevailing maintenance wage rates, Mr. Price advised all local Building Trades Councils and Unions to supply pertinent data to his office or to the regional office so that proper recognition and payment of Union prevailing wages could be obtained by the Unions. Decisions made by Mr. Price's Office are to be subject to appeal by the Local Housing Authority and the Unions may also initiate appeals directly through Mr. Price's office or through the Local Housing Authority.

General Secretary Edward J. Hillock arrived from Washington for a series of meetings and conferences in the Southwest District. His first meeting was at Reno, Nev., where he was the keynoter of the annual convention of the Nevada State Federation of Labor. It was most gratifying to General Secretary Hillock to participate in this convention which has re-elected as its Secretary-Treasurer, energetic Business Manager Hy Forgeron of our Las Vegas, Nev., United Association Local Union No. 525. On Brother Hillock's return to Southern California the monthly meeting of the Southern California Council of the United Association was attended at Ventura and the General Secretary addressed the delegation on the policies, program, aims and aspirations of the United Association, and the trends which are affecting the work opportunities for our membership, now and in the post-war period. He was afforded the opportunity of engaging in round-table discussion of these policies and trends, and I am sure the representatives of the Southern California United Association Local Unions have been considerably enlightened with respect to these issues. Special Representative Clayton Bilderback was also in attendance at this conference and addressed the delegates concerning the organizational work in the refrigeration, and air conditioning field. General Secretary Hillock's itinerary calls for his arrival in San Francisco immediately following additional Southern California business contacts and conferences.

Distinguished Service Cross Goes to Marine Fitter

ALONE, Pfc. Harry E. Hamilton of Local 235, Pipe Fitters and Marine Fitters Union, Portland, Oreg., killed nine and stopped a counter-attack of thirty Germans with his automatic rifle, and in recognition of his heroic achievement was awarded the second highest Army medal. The Distinguished Service Cross winner was employed at the Yelton Heating and Plumbing Co., Vancouver, Wash., prior to entering the armed services.

Several members of his company were stopped by machine gun fire on Sept. 14, 1944, near Mount Calvi, Italy, as they attempted to outflank the Germans. Hamilton, with automatic rifle in hand, ran to a better position and fired. After he silenced a machine-gun, and killed six Germans, he disposed of three more as they attempted to man the abandoned machine gun.

Later, he stopped a counter-attack of thirty Germans with his rifle. When seventy-five Germans launched a flanking counter-attack that afternoon, Private Hamilton located their machine gun, rose and fired from his hip a charge which silenced it. Thus inspired, his comrades drove them back.

Veteran Seabees From the United Association

FOR more than twenty-seven months the members of the United Association in this photograph have served their nation at war. The entire period of service has been spent in the Pacific. The unit moved from the Midway Island to the Hawaiian Islands and then to Tinian in the Marianas. These are the men who have cleared the way so that the industrial output of their fellow workers in the States could be placed in the hands of the armed forces. Whether it was setting up a refrigeration plant on Guadalcanal or fitting up a hospital on Okinawa, the Seabees have always been on the job. To the men in this photograph in particular and to all the men of the Seabees, the United Association expresses its appreciation for a job well done. The photograph was taken at Tinian, April 1945, by J. F. Escue, and the members in the picture are as follows:

LOCAL UNION*News and ViewsWelcome To The United Association!

THE United Association of Journeymen Plumbers and Steam Fitters extends a hearty welcome to the new men who have joined the organization from Houston and Beaumont, Texas.

These men are all engaged in the refrigeration sector of the pipe trades industry. They have shown by their action of joining that they are ready, able and willing to give a fair day's work for a fair day's pay. They respect their employer and in turn expect him to respect them. They are typical Americans who believe in fair play.

The new members are indeed welcome in an organization which for many years has prided itself on the quality of its craftsmen. The United Association has persisted because it always had members who were guided by the highest ideals of trade unionism. The hope is expressed that these new members too will become imbued with the principles of unionism and cherish the organization as much as many of those who have preceded them. The future of the United Association lies in the hands of new members like these.

RESOLUTION BY LOCAL UNION NO. 43

With a feeling of deep sorrow and regret, we, the members of Local 43, Plumbers and Steam Fitters, Chattanooga, Tenn., have learned of the death of one of our most promising young members, Pfc. Eugene Lambdin, only son of Brother Walter D. Lambdin and Mrs. Maude Lambdin. He was initiated into this Local Union on September 13, 1939.

After landing on Okinawa on April 1, Gene made the supreme sacrifice for his country, when he was killed in action on April 20, 1945.

The first of our members to fall on the battle front, the Gold Star is placed tenderly and reverently beside Gene's name, on our honor roll, and our tears mingle with those of his bereaved parents and sister.

He entered the service on September 17, 1941, and was never home again, in the four years. Brother Watt and Mrs. Lambdin went to California
